Benes, Ill, Exhausted, Quits Post

Czech President Refuses Approve New Constitution

By A. I. GOLDBERG

PRAGUE, June 7.—(AP)—Ill and exhausted, President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia resigned today rather than approve a new constitution drawn up by the Communists.

Benes, 64, had served as president 11 years in two terms. He was elected in 1946 to serve for life.

Premier Klement Gottwald's office announced the cabinet accepted the resignation and voted to continue Benes' presidential salary and gave him the presidential home at Lany.

(Reuters said Benes is reported to have left unsigned the new constitution, establishing a "People's Democratic Republic" which was put into his hands 29 days ago. The constitution is scheduled to be promulgated tomorrow.)

He resigned once before—in 1938 after the Munich conference brought the German invasion—but reassumed the presidency in London, July 21, 1940. He first became president in December, 1935, after Thomas G. Masaryk resigned because of age and illness. Benes had been Masaryk's foreign minister 17 years and helped him found the Czechoslovak Republic.

Three months ago Masaryk's son Jan, Benes' foreign minister, was found dead—a suicide, the Communist government said. That followed the Communist coup in February which sharply reduced Benes' powers. He resigned rather than accept the "Peoples' Democracy Constitution" which the Communists put forward. He disagreed with its provisions and disapproved of the single ticket parliamentary elections which the Communist regime held eight days ago.

The first announcement of the resignation said only that a communique would be issued later.

Search Pressed For Missing Boy

Whereabouts Of Lad Is Mystery

Mystery still shrouds the disappearance of 10-year-old Gordon Mainwood of 10618 80 avenue.

The youth has been missing from his South Side home since 9 p.m. Tuesday evening.

An extensive, combined search of police, army and boy scouts, which reached as far as Blackfalds, 100 miles south has failed to locate the boy.

First clue in the six-day search came from Don Danard, Edmonton cattle buyer of 11226 91 street, who told police over the week-end that he had driven the youth to Blackfalds early Wednesday morning.

"I picked the lad up near Wetaskiwin about 5 a.m. Wednesday," Danard said.

SEEMED NORMAL

"Although he seemed normal at the time, he was despondent about being rejected as an RCMP recruit," the buyer related.

(No record of his application has been found by RCMP here.)

"He told me he was going to join the army in the photographic branch at Calgary," Danard said Sunday.

Meanwhile, RCMP radio division contacted army offices at Calgary, but were unable to get any lead on the missing youth.

R. F. Mainwood, the boy's father, flew to Calgary Sunday to aid police and army officials there in the search. He returned to Edmonton without a trace of his son.

The young lad's mother, suffering a breakdown after his mysterious disappearance, is under a nurse's care.

BOY SCOUTS HELP

On Saturday a dragnet of nearly 150 Boy Scouts, led by six army officials, from North West Command, combed the north and south bank of the Saskatchewan river here with out avail.

The 10-hour search was abandoned when the search shifted to Blackfalds and Calgary.

Unconfirmed reports reaching police over the weekend said the youth may have returned to the city.

A South Side cab driver said he picked up a boy, answering Mainwood's description, Thursday night.

The youth, left the cab without paying, the cab driver said.

Another report said the lad had been spotted near 95 street and 118 avenue Thursday night.

EFFORTS FAIL

Combined efforts of City and RCMP failed to locate any sign of Mainwood.

Meanwhile all available forces are being thrown into the search.

Police throughout the whole southeast of the province, as well as army men, have been altered to watch for the five-foot-11-inch youth who has red hair and is slim built.

He is believed to be wearing a green sweater, tweed trousers and a blue coat.

Grief-stricken parents have asked the co-operation of everyone in assisting them to locate their son.

Arabs, Israel Given Terms Of New Truce

From AP and BUP Despatches

CAIRO, June 7.—Count Folke Bernadotte handed to six Arab powers today his proposal for a starting time and conditions of the four-week armistice in palestine.

Bernadotte communicated the proposal also to Jewish authorities in Tel Aviv.

Peace appeared unlikely during this week, however. Palace sources in Amman, Trans-Jordan, said the Arab League political committee will not meet before Saturday.

MANY DIFFERENCES

Bernadotte, mediator for the United Nations, has been empowered to fix the starting time for the truce, to which both sides have agreed. The Arabs, however, affixed "explanations" and the Jews "assumptions." It was the Count's task to reconcile the differences, particularly over Jewish insistence and Arab objections to unlimited immigration to Israel during the truce and opening of the road to the 90,000 besieged Jews in Jerusalem.

(Israel advised the United Nations at Lake Success, N.Y., today she has agreed to segregate immigrants of military age coming into Palestine during the projected armistice.)

(The UN made no mention of Arab acceptance of the systems of controls and it was not known whether the Arabs have accepted any of them.)

CEASE-FIRE DEADLINE

Unofficial reports said the date for a cease-fire order originally had been set for noon today but that this was changed last night in Amman in a conference between Bernadotte and King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan. The new cease-fire deadline is noon Thursday, these reports said.

New battles broke out on the Palestine fronts as both sides struggled to win the best possible positions before the expected cease fire order brings a halt in fighting.

Dispatches from Beirut said Lebanese and Syrian troops attacked across the frontier Saturday and captured Malikiya, 14 miles north of Safad, in an attempt to open up an invasion route to the Jewish-controlled Hulen valley.

Israeli sources claimed that Arab Legion units in Ramleh had been cut off from their supply line over the weekend by the capture of Quhab, six miles east of Ramleh.

SHE'S THRILLED $10,000 Bride Off To Husband

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y., June 7.—(BUP)—Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor set out today to collect the husband and $10,000 that a newspaper want ad won her.

"I feel just like a bride ought to feel—thrilled and excited," the 28-year-old blonde hatcheck girl said before boarding a plane for Daytona Beach, Fla., to meet the man of her choice.

The man the shapely divorcee chose was Dan Wicker, owner of "Danny's musical bar," a Daytona Beach tavern. He was among the dozen or more who answered her wife-for-sale ad in a local newspaper.

"Anyone who can't be happy with that guy is a moron," Mrs. Wawlor said when she saw Wicker's picture for the first time last night. "He's cute."

Mrs. Lawlor said Wicker's answer to her advertisement was a telegram:

"Is you is, or is you ain't gonna be my baby?"

"Do you do, or do you don't want me for your baby?"

Mrs. Lawlor said that she had talked several times by long distance telephone with Wicker, who is divorced and the father of one child. She said the matter of the $10,000 had come up several times.

"The $10,000 is just a necessary part of the bargain," she said. "I do wish, though, that I had met Dan under different circumstances. I know instinctively that we have a lot in common."

Ontario Voting Tempo Increases

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—The tempo of Ontario's general election vote—the third in less than five years—was stepped up early this afternoon despite cool, raw weather in most parts of the province.

Indications were, however, that the vote would fail well short of the record 1,165,793 of 1945.

The voting was light as the polls opened at 5 a.m. MST. In most ridings the skies were overcast and rain was either falling or forecast. Bright, sunny weather was reported, however, in parts of Northern Ontario.

Returning officers looked for the "heavy run" of votes shortly before the 4 p.m. MST closing of the polls. Some industries were planning to close early to enable employes to mark their ballots well before the deadline.

GUNMAN GAVE VICTIM WINNER

LONDON, June 7.—(CP)—Twenty-four hours before My Love won the Epsom Derby Saturday at 100-9 odds, a whimsical young gunman entered a pawnshop here and poked a gun in the back of salesgirl Sheila Butler, 17, and snapped the command:

"Don't move my love—and by the way, there's a Derby winner for you."

The gunman escaped with cash and jewelry. Miss Butler did not take the tip.

3,000 Soldiers Battle Floods

Close to 3,000 military men are waging a grim battle alongside civilians in British Columbia's crippling floods.

Major Al Stirton, public relations officer of Western Army Command, who has returned to Edmonton from the inundated areas along the Fraser river, said that military strength is now mostly concentrated in the threatened areas of the Vedder channel, Lulu Island, and Pitt Meadows.

In these areas troops are working day and night to maintain dams, that threaten to break at any time.

"They have become so waterlogged that water is seeping underneath," Major Stirton said.

Naval, air force and reserve troops are also battling the floods.

About 325 active army personnel are from alberta.

Latest group to go from this province was about 110 officers and other ranks of the Lord Strathcona orse, commanded by Lt.-Col. A. G. Chubb. They were flown in five RCAF craft from here to Creston Saturday.

Home Damaged

CALGARY, June 7.—(CP)—Fire caused damage estimated at more than $1,000 to the home of William G. Studen on 10th street in North-West Calgary last night. The blaze was caused by an overheated refrigerator motor.

Occupants Of Plane Rescued

A pilot and his three passengers were rescued after their plane crashed near McMurray during the week - end by Canadian Army Signals men.

A search was started last week for a missing McMurray Air Service plane after Eddie Eddie pilot and the passengers failed to return.

With three McMurray residents, Herbert Graham, and his daughters, Dorothy and Bertha, Jones was searching for a missing trapper.

The trapper, Ray Funk, was sighted from the air 30 miles south of McMurray and the plane landed.

When it attempted to t.ke off, a submerged object in the Athabasca river turned the plane over on its back, damaging its wings. The pilot and three passengers hung onto the floats of the aircraft until able to make it to shore.

They were later rescued by another aircraft chartered by an RCCS man.

Fraud Alleged In Ont. Voting

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—Mrs. Edith Probert, Toronto-St. Patrick returning officer, said forms have been sworn out for the arrest of two men for impersonation at a riding booth in today's provincial election.

The action followed a complaint by John Osler, CCF candidate He said one man misrepresented a semi-invalid and the other a shift worker, who was in bed at the time.

Mrs. Probert said a woman was in the booth at the time who knew of the misrepresentation, but did not speak "until it was too late."

Mrs. Probert ordered the remaining 300 voters in the sub-division to swear they were not impersonating anyone.

Gale Wreaks Damage In Manitoba Town

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., June 7.—(CP)—Heavy damage was left today in the wake of a gale of cyclonic proportions that struck this town 55 miles west of Winnipeg at the Sunday supper hour.

The wind and rain flattened a number of small buildings, disrupted telephone and power circuits, tore off a portion of the tin roof of the Collegiate, and ripped up big trees.

The west end of Portage was most seriously affected. A number of streets in the district were closed to traffic when trees spilled across them. The wind reached a velocity of about 75 miles an hour.

No one was injured in the near-tornado.

Huge trees were splintered like matches and those torn loose from boulevards carried parts of cement sidewalks with them.

Many windows were broken when branches fell on a park conservatory.

Four CPR freight cars had their tops blown off.

24 DEAD FROM HIS ACT, MAN FINED $20

WINSFORD, CHESHIRE, England, June 7.—(AP)—Harry Bishop, 19-year-old British army gunner, pleaded guilty today to stopping an express train April 17, an act which resulted in the deaths of 24 persons.

He was fined £5 ($20) and costs.

Bishop said he pulled a communication cord to stop the train near his home to save time in reaching the bedside of his ill wife. While the train, the night express from Glasgow to London, was halted, a mail train crashed into its rear.

Russia Not Expected To OK Germany Plan

LONDON, June 7.—(AP)—The western powers gave Russia one more chance today to join in their plan to rebuild Germany, but there seemed little hope of Soviet cooperation.

The text of a six-power agreement on Germany was handed to Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet military governor for that occupied country, in Berlin, by the United States and British military governors and the French deputy military governor.

United States diplomatic officials had predicted the move here last night and indicated it was intended to give the Russians an opportunity to share in the plan, made public today. A French cabinet crisis was reported brewing because of the new plan. The project, worked out in a London conference of the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, aims at Germany's economic and political reconstruction.

The cabinet here studied and quickly approved the six-power proposals, a source said.

SOVIET OBJECTIONS

Moscow radio yesterday quoted Pravda as saying the agreement "will never be recognized as lawful by peace-loving peoples whose interests were grossly trodden underfoot . . . it will not be recognized by the German people either."

The Soviet Union has objected that in drawing up the plan, the western powers have broken the Potsdam agreement for Big-Four decisions on Germany.

On the eve of its disclosure, the Russians came out with more charges against the west in Berlin and Moscow newspapers. The Soviet News Bureau in Berlin said five Americans had shot a Soviet sentry.

The French were understood here to have forced publication of the agreement. They have been uneasy lest Germany be built again into a military threat.

BIDAULT CENSURED

The plan is expected to be discussed in foreign affairs debate early this week in the French assembly. An assembly committee has consulted Foreign Minister Bidault for holding back information on the negotiations.

Britain's ruling Labor party announced that two leaders went to Paris yesterday to talk over "party matters." Secretary-General Morgan Phillips flew from Vienna, cancelling a speaking engagement at the International Socialist Conference. James Griffiths, minister of national insurance, went from London.

Lewis Blasts Coal Operators

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(AP)—John L. Lewis opened soft coal contract talks today—with a blast of denunciation at the operators.

He called them "fat cats . . . magnificently opulent . . . digging deep and without restraint into the national purse."

He made two points clear about any agreement replacing the contract expiring June 30:

1. The United Mine Workers have no wage proposals, but they "expect improvements."

2. They want guarantees under the 1947 miners' welfare fund which has paid out nothing because it is tied up in a legal dispute.

He put the next move up to the operators. The miners will consider any offer "which you may persuade yourselves to utter," Lewis said.

He was directed to negotiate with the Southern Coal Producers Association by Justice T. Alan Goldsborough, against his will and under injunction. Goldsborough acted under the Taft-Hartley Act which Lewis called "the first major thrust of Fascist tyranny in the Republic."

Rampant Fraser Rips Out Bridge Span at Mission

VANCOUVER, June 7.—(CP)—The Fraser river struck a new blow at valley residents today when it ripped out the 75-foot wooden south span of the Mission bridge.

The one sole remaining bridges spanning the river between Vancouver and Hope, 100 miles east, are at New Westminster.

Thus the rampant Fraser has chopped the valley into a number of isolated communities. No trains move eastward, although service may be resumed today by aid of buses. Truck traffic on the north side is cut off eastward, but some are getting through on the south side.

The missing bridge has not been used for rail traffic for more than a week.

But the main threat is still the Vedder canal area, 60 miles east of Vancouver, between Chilliwack and Abbotsford.

The six-mile channel contained by two 25-foot dikes is the only barrier to the flooding of 75 square miles of Canadian farmland and an area stretching to the Pacific coast in Washington state. Three Navy LCI's loaded with five tons of sandbags patrol it, together

UNDIVORCED MOTHER STILL ALIVE

Son Goes to Father's Wedding—And Stops It

DUDLEY, Worcestershire, England, June 7.—(CP)—Thirty-two-year-old Charles Thomas went to his father's wedding Saturday—and had it stopped.

Thomas said:

"On Friday I had a letter from a woman who said she was my mother—my father's first wife.

"The letter was from Mrs. Olive Thomas of Toronto.

"I immediately decided to stop the ceremony and did so on the advice of police who came with me to the church."

Charles' father, George Thomas, 52, Dudley chauffeur, said he last saw his first wife alive in 1926 in Canada adding: "I have not heard from her since and thought she was dead. In 1926 I married again—Rose was my second wife's name.

"When Rose died last year I thought myself to be a widower. I have made a long statement to police and I hope the matter will be cleared up."

At the wedding Saturday, when the clergyman said "if any of you know cause . . ." Charles said "I object. I am his son."

The ceremony was stopped and the bride, Alice Finch, 22, collapsed.

In Toronto, Mrs. Olive Thomas, 55, said last night that she was married at Toronto in 1913 to George Thomas and believes he is the man whose marriage was stopped in Dudley, Worcestershire, Saturday. She had never obtained a divorce.

(She had heard nothing from him since 1926 when he left Toronto with Charles and another child.

(A third child was born soon after her husband left here in 1926, Mrs. Thomas said. He is a son who lives in Toronto.)

Truman Expected To Be Nominated

South Democrats Giving Up Hope of Beating President

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(AP)—Despite an anti-Truman flare-up in Nebraska, balking southerners have about given up hope of keeping President Truman from getting the democratic nomination. They may bring out a post-convention presidential candidate of their own.

Senators Walter George and Richard Russell of Georgia are being mentioned as among those most likely to carry the banner of a new southern Democratic party if one can be formed.

Just now the southerners are all mixed up on where they stand in their fight against Truman's civil rights program.

Some states, like Alabama, have directed their electors not to vote for the president. Others, like Texas, have instructed their delegations to fight Truman's program but to stick with the convention nominee. The program is regarded as an infringement of state rights.

EFFORTS BOOMERANG

Truman, himself, meanwhile, tried to make hay among convention delegates as he travelled westward on a political barnstorming tour.

His efforts in Nebraska boomeranged. But lacking only 20-odd pledged or undisputed votes to reach the 618 he needs, he seemed likely to sew up a first-ballot nomination early this week.

Among delegates already picked, Truman lost at least one but picked up another over the weekend.

William Ritchie, Nebraska state democratic chairman and a delegate to the convention opening July 12, announced in Omaha Sunday that "after what happened yesterday" he will cast his vote "for some Jeffersonian Democrat."

Ritchie declared that Nebraska and Iowa Democrats were "given the bum's rush" during the president's visit to Omaha on Saturday.

The state chairman said arrangements for the visit were "in the hands of Republicans" and that as a result only 2,000 persons turned out to hear the president in a stadium which seats 10,000.

Rampant Fraser Rips Out Bridge

with 200 service and civilian workers.

The army has corralled 1,800 cattle at Chilliwack's school of military engineering, and has salvaged 50 tons of hay from the area to feed them. Portable canvas water reservoirs are used to water them.

Province-wide high temperatures are predicted again for today, and melting snowfields hourly add to the menace.

Dikes are still holding against the tremendous pressure of the river, but must meet the challenge of high tides rising to 14.4 feet Thursday night.

COLUMBIA RISES

The Columbia river rose 5-10 feet in the last 24 hours. Tons of driftwood are adding to the danger, but diking is well in hand on both sides of the river.

Creston, 130 miles east of Trail, is preparing for a crisis as the Kootenay continues to rise.

The unbridled streams raced through mountain gorges to the headwaters of the Fraser, Thompson and Columbia.

The new threat followed yesterday's heat wave when nearly all sections of B.C. recorded the hottest day of the year with some centres racking up four-year highs for June.

SNOW MELTING

Weather officials said snow was melting on the mountains up to 14,000 feet and the huge, thawing reserves of mountain snow would add to the flood menace. They predicted "no break" from temperatures in the 80's and 90's.

The Pacific ocean also seemed bent on adding to the appalling toll of devastation.

Spring tides each night this week moved up Fraser and Columbia river mouths in their highest swells of the year.

Expected to reach a peak of 14.4 feet in the Fraser Thursday night, the tides hold back the river's normal runoff throwing new pressure on unsubstantial barriers.

During the week-end B.C.'s 33,500 flood workers were given a temporary lull in the flood blitz as no major dike breaks were reported.

NEW RESERVES DUE

New reserves are due today to relieve weary dikers. About 200 soldiers, coming from Victoria and Nanaimo, will be sent to Pitt Meadows, 25 miles east of here.

More volunteers also are expected from the United States. Mayor Peter Rayban and 100 men from Blaine, Wash., joined the B.C. battle yesterday.

The King's birthday today will not be marked by official military ceremonies. A spokesman announced that with the entire army, navy and air force in action on the flood battlefront, "the occasion will be observed quietly."

One of the "action's" during the week-end was the rescue of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Walker and their nine children by Chief Petty Officer H. J. Ward of Victoria.

He found the family, the mother holding a five-month-old child, on a water-surrounded knoll near Harrison Hot Springs, 55 miles east of here. They had been on the flood-made island in the Fraser for three days.

RELIEF PROMISED

A promise of relief soon for flood victims came from External Affairs Minister St. Laurent. After an aerial survey of the afflicted Fraser valley area, the federal minister said relief would not be delayed by waiting to determine the damage extent.

East-west railway communication, disrupted by slides and washouts for a week, will be partially resumed today. Transcontinental trains will go as far as Haig and Hope, 100 miles east of here, passengers then going by bus to Vancouver.

Meanwhile at Trail in the West Kootenays, hundreds of volunteer workers labored battling the rising Columbia. Part of the main street is under water but dikes remained above the level of the water. Anti-panicking appeals yesterday were made from pulpits of city churches at the request of flood relief director J. P. Coates.

GUIDED MISSILE TO BAG ENEMY PLANES

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(AP)—The United States navy is developing a guided missile to knock down enemy planes more than seven miles away.

The rocket-propelled missile will ride a radio beam to targets from 5,000 to 15,000 yards from the mother ship and will be ready for fleet installation by 1950.

Details of the guided missile and a glittering array of new weapons were disclosed in navy department appropriation hearings.

The navy plans to build 50 of the new anti-aircraft missiles at a cost of $25,500 each for training and study.

Stiff Penalties

MEXICO CITY, June 7.—(AP)—Stiff homicide penalties will be enforced to check traffic deaths, the attorney-general's office said today. Drivers of "death cars" will be charged with intentional homicide. Conviction means 13 to 20 years in jail.

Priest of Darkest Africa Sheds Light on Its Folk

Dark superstitions and black magic constitute the greatest obstacles to Chrisitanity in the Belgian Congo.

But Christianity is making steady progress, Rev. Father Adolf Guterson of the Millhill Mission Society, said here today.

Millhill-born Father Guterson is visiting his brother, C. B Guterson of Drumheller, after 36 years in the heart of darkest Africa.

IN EDMONTON

The Congo priest is in Edmonton with his brother, who is third vice-president of the Alberta Hotel Association.

Convention of the association starts here Tuesday.

Of 12,500,000 natives in the Belgian Congo, 2,500,000 are non-Roman Catholics, Fr. Guterson said.

The native medicine-man or witch-doctor still strongly opposes the advance of Christianity.

But the witch doctor fights a losing battle, Father Guterson declares.

"It will take centuries to completely wipe out the old native superstitions.

The natives cannot understand natural death.

Everytime a person is sick or dies the native attributes this to an evil eye or human influence," the priest explained.

SECOND TRIP

Now 61 years of age, Father Guterson is making his second trip to the outside world in nearly 40 years.

In Canada he hopes to raise money with which to purchase a truck for work in his mission territory that is 125 miles in width and length.

The Belgian Congo government is building good roads in the vast territory and the whole country is going modern, he said.

The Millhill Mission to which Father Guterson belongs is 3,000 miles from the coast. There are 45 Dutch and five English priests and several nuns at the station.

There are 15 Millhill stations in the Congo, and 45 bishops.

Rice, cotton, uranium, copper, gold and diamonds are produced in the Congo.

Before returning to the Congo Father Guterson plans to visit other brothers and sisters in his native Neimegen, Holland, for five months

City Philatelist Claims Top Honors

Stamp Stock Has Grown For Seventeen Years

By his own admission, Harold Thomas Wevill, Edmonton stamp dealer, is the owner of "the 'rgest and most complete stock of stamps in Western Canada."

"This claim," said Mr. Wevill, "became valid last Thursday, when I had the extreme good fortune to purchase a stamp collection which surpasses any that I have seen in my 25 years as a philatelist."

The collection referred to is the result of 15 years' labor, representing hundreds of dollars and thousands of hours, by an Edmonton man who, at 35 years of age, suddenly decided to give up his hobby.

This decision to sell, by the unidentified citizen, has made Harold Wevill the happiest dealer in Edmonton.

Any interested visitor to his rear-office, philatelist's heaven, at 10052 100 street, will be shown dozens of record-bound albums with stamps mounted in cellophane pockets, stock books, mint-sheets, rare booklets, and miscellaneous boxes—each container indexed, catalogued and over flowing with stamps.

However, philatelist Wevill does not base his claim of Western Canada's leading stamp-dealer solely on his latest acquisition.

After 17 years as a dealer, he has built up a sizeable stock—long before his lucky purchase.

Seven years overseas with the Canadian army, in England, France, Belgium and Germany, afforded Mr. Wevill an excellent opportunity to purchase stamps, and, what is more important, to establish philatelic contacts which are invaluable to him today as a source of supply.

Callers at the Wevill stamp mart, philatelists or not, will be heartily welcomed by the 48-year-old proprietor, who would just as soon talk about his stamps as sell them.

Freddy Martin, Band Appear Here June 16

Freddy Martin, the man who gained fame by dancing the classics to everybody's doorstep, will be in Edmonton June 16.

The famed orchestra is scheduled to appear in the Trocadero Ballroom for one night only.

Martin's climb to success began with his famous recording of Tschaikowsky's "Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor," which he popularized as "Tonight We Love."

The record sold more than a million copies in a short time.

His orchestra in the next few years made many recordings which were "tops" in popularity, including "The Hut Sut Song," "Why Don't We Do This More Often," "Managua Nicaragua," "Bumble Boogie," and "Onezy Twozy."

During successful tours he has appeared at the Waldorf-Astoria and St. Regis Hotels in New York and the Palmer House in Chicago.

His home "stand," however, is the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles where he has appeared for several years.

He is also regularly heard on the Jack Carson radio program for which he provides "Music by Martin."

He will also be remembered for his noted screen work in such movie successes as, "The Mayor of 44th Street," "Stage Door Canteen," "Hit Parade of 1943," "What's Buzzin' Cuzzin," and "Seven Days Leave."

FREDDY MARTIN
... A concerto.

Martin is considered one of the most versatile and successful musicians on the continent.

The band is recommended for listening, as well as dancing, pleasure.

Columbia Dike Front Weakens

PORTLAND, Ore., June 7—(AP)—The United States Army today threw a fresh engineering field command against the raging Columbia river in a desperate attempt to hold the weakening 100-mile dike front from Portland to the Pacific.

Twenty-six officers of the Army Engineer Corps rushed to critical points in the heavily-barricaded lower valley as the great river built up pressure with its second flood wave in a week.

The huge task was to prevent expansion of the flood toil by the Columbia and Fraser rivers in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia—26 dead, 52 missing, about 60,000 homeless, damage of perhaps $140,000,000.

The new flood crest was deep into the already hard-hit industrial area around Portland and Vancouver, Wash. It was surging down-river, building up the current that has been grinding away the dikes since the first crest rolled down six days ago.

Drunks and Thieves Keep Police Active

Police reported a hectic week-end today.

Cells were crammed with 26 offenders Sunday morning.

Most arrests were made for liquor offences ranging from illegal possession to being drunk.

Nine prisoners were released on bail.

Although only one serious break-in was reported, thieves netted a variety of loot taken from yards and lawns.

A house occupied by M. Meier, at 11944 89 street, was entered and ransacked Saturday afternoon, according to police.

An electric razor and $45 in cash were found missing.

Items reported taken from city houses include six bicycles, one tricycle, one baby carriage, a wheelbarrow, a hammock and a quantity of clothing from a clothesline.

Thieves breaking into parked automobiles obtained one robe, two coats and a suitcase.

No police court was held today because of the civic holiday.

Ex-Mayor Dies

KINGSTON, Ont., June 7.—(CP)—J. Stuart Crawford, 56, former mayor of Kingston, died at his home Saturday night following a heart attack. He had been in ill health for some time. He tendered his resignation as mayor, effective May 1, due to ill health.

Sections of Criminal Code to Be Tightened

OTTAWA, June 7.—(CP)—Justice Minister Ilsley told the Commons today the government plans to tighten up sections of the criminal code dealing with sex crimes, libel and culpable homicide.

He made the statement before obtaining first reading of a bill making these and other widespread changes to the code.

The libel section will be extended to cover charges of conspiracy to publish defamatory libel. The new section of the code will read:

"Nothing in this act authorizes any court in one province of Canada to try any person for any offence committed entirely in another province; provided that every proprietor, publisher, editor or other person charged with the publication of a newspaper or any defamatory libel or with conspiracy to publish in any newspaper and defamatory libel, shall be dealt with, indicted, tried and punished in the province in which he resides, or in which such newspaper is printed."

CHANGE REQUESTED

Requests for the change resulted from the recent New Liberty case when Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of the Toronto magazine, and Harold Dingman, its Ottawa correspondent, were brought before Alberta courts on charges of conspiracy to libel. The charges later were stayed by the provincial attorney general.

Mr. Ilsley said that whenever a person is convicted of a sex offence, the attorney-general may authorize the hearing of evidence as to whether the offender is a criminal sexual psychopath.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCE

If the court finds the accused to be a criminal sexual psychopath he may be sentenced to penitentiary for two years and for "an indeterminate period thereafter."

The new section of the code adds that "the minister of justice shall once at least in every three years during which a person is detained in custody for an indeterminate period review the condition, history and circumstances of that person with a view to determining whether he should be placed out on licence and, if so, on what conditions."

Michael and Princess In Athens to Marry

ATHENS, June 7.—(BUP)—Former King Michael of Romania and Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma moved into the Greek royal palace today where they will be married this week, probably on Thursday.

They arrived from Geneva at dawn aboard a regularly-scheduled airliner.

The youthful royal lovers were greeted at the airport by King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece; Queen Helen, Michael's mother and Princess Irene, a sister of the Greek king.

The stocky Michael, garbed in a double breasted grey suit, kissed King Paul. Anne, wearing a light blue silk suit and a tiny white hat, kissed her future mother-in-law and Queen Frederika and curtsied to the Greek king.

Police were stationed along the route from the airport to the palace in extraordinary security precautions. All persons, except officials, were searched as they entered the airport. Greek photographers were barred from the field.

B.C. May Start Collecting Sales Tax On July 16

VICTORIA, June 7.—(CP)—British Columbia may start collecting the three per cent retail sales tax July 16.

Welfare minister George S. Pearson announced Saturday that effective July 1, the province would increase by roughly 15 per cent both social allowances and mothers' allowances.

Thus it was hinted that the sales tax, formally called the social security and municipal aid tax, will come into effect on that date.

If judged by the amount of their time and money devoted to religion, the people of Tibet probably are the most religious in the world.

Car Hurtles Ditch, Crashes, Only One Hurt

CALGARY, June 7.—(CP)—Clayton Sailer, 15, is reported resting comfortably in hospital today after being injured Saturday night in an automobile accident on the Banff highway 18 miles out of Calgary.

Four other persons in the automobile escaped with minor injuries when the vehicle left the road, hurtled through a ditch and fence and then overturned several times. Sailer was taken to hospital for observation.

It will be accompanied by a guarantee of statement of $2,750 a year, use of furnished manse and one month's vacation a year.

It is expected Rev. Jackson will take over his duties on July 1, when he returns from Dawson Creek, where he has been substituting during the illness of a fellow minister.

At 32 years of age, he will be one of the youngest ministers in Edmonton.

He is a sports enthusiast, and is expected to take an active part in recreational activities of the church.

Hotelmen Arriving For Big Convention

Mayor Harry Ainlay will greet the hotelmen on behalf of the city, and the balance of the morning session will be occupied with association business.

At the Tuesday afternoon session A. J. Mason, chairman Alberta Liquor Control Board, and A. J. Gairinter, Montreal, president of the Hotel Association of Canada, will address the meeting.

Hon. J. L. Robinson, minister of industry and labor, will be the principal speaker at a banquet in the main dining room of the hotel Tuesday evening.

Wednesday the principal business to come before the convention will be reports of committees, nomination and election of officers, and setting the venue for the next convention.

During Wednesday afternoon T. Eaton Co. (Western Ltd.) will be host to the women visitors at a tea at the Macdonald hotel.

Good Zoo or No Zoo

Members of the Humane Society and others who insist upon extensive improvements to Edmonton's Zoo are quite right in demanding that the zoo be brought up-to-date or completely abolished.

The city council has decided to spend $1,000 on a new ground level bear cage and take these animals out of their dank and depressing pit.

This is a commendable start, but no more than a start. The coyotes, birds, rabbits, elk and deer have to be provided with adequate quarters suitable for their needs in all seasons of the year.

A zoo is a highly valuable educational institution. Its primary function is to instruct, not to entertain nor to purify the emotion of pity which is said to be the purpose of Greek tragedy.

It is true that a poor zoo, such as Edmonton's is at present, might exercise in a profitable way one's capacity for compassion. But a zoo exists to teach children and others something about animals.

All the Edmonton Zoo does is to teach spectators something about the state of mind of those who permit it to exist in a deplorable condition.

If Edmonton people want a zoo, they must be prepared to pay for its construction and maintenance.

A new bear pit is not nearly enough.

We must have a good zoo or no zoo at all.

New Treatment for Sex Offenders

The efforts of thoughtful and responsible bodies all over Canada, including those of women's organizations in Edmonton, appear to be bearing fruit with the announcement by the Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley that action will be taken in criminal code amendments to deal with mentally-unsound sex offenders.

It has been the contention of those who have protested against the mounting incidence of sex crimes that ordinary penal confinement effects no change in these criminals.

The tendency, on the contrary, appears to be progressive whether the offenders are punished or not.

Thus, the sex offender who starts out with simple acts of indecency tends to graduate into more serious sex crimes until he arrives at the ultimate enormity of murder.

Experiments have occurred in New York state with special psychological treatment for these people. The report is that these experiments have chalked up considerable success in removing abnormal desires from sex offenders.

This is the right thing to do, which Mr. Ilsley doubtless refers when he speaks of special action authorized by the criminal code.

The people of Canada will await with a good deal of interest the specific recommendations of Mr. Ilsley.

Too Much Barbara Ann

Barbara Ann Scott, for all her sweetness and accomplishments, is going to degenerate into a first class bore unless she is given a rest in the news columns.

Everyone will gladly admit that Miss Scott is an amazing skater, that she is charming, that her modesty is to be commended.

But when we hear, day in and day out, how that fascinating young lady was presented with a car by the city of Ottawa how she has turned professional, all about her movie offers, how she is worried to death about her freckles and, finally, how she has figured out a way to beat the income tax—well, there is such a thing as too much Barbara Ann Scott.

It would be a very great pity if this admirable young lady were to be completely smothered in saccharine adulation.

It has happened before.

Many a promising movie star has been drowned in too much sickly publicity. Even politicians have been swamped in the overzealous bilge emanating from unrestrained press agents.

Barbara Ann will last longer if we have a little less of her now.

Ukrainians Burn Their Bridges

Members of the Ukrainian-Canadian Committee of Edmonton, in urging the federal government to ban the Labor Progressive party, leave no doubt in anybody's mind of the kind of Canadianism they represent.

Their denunciation of the Communist government of Soviet Russia as "terroristic" and their insistence upon Canadian political parties being controlled in Canada indicate that they are one racial group at least that is prepared to burn and has burned the bridges that connect them with their motherland.

Their action is welcome and commendable, not necessarily as it expresses repugnance for Communism, but as it expresses a warm and exclusive loyalty to Canada.

As this newspaper has said many times, settlers from foreign lands can and do become useful and valuable citizens when they cut themselves completely adrift from their countries of origin and become Canadians in thought and behavior and speech.

Members of the Ukrainian-Canadian Committee have shown that they have taken this step. They have established proof of their good citizenship.

THE TIMID SOUL

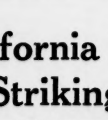
By Elmore Philpott

California Is a Place Of Striking Contrast

Richardson Grove, Calif.—Here in the heart of the redwood forests, and in the cool calm of late afternoon, one is glad to sit and rest awhile.

Here one knows why the typical American calls this "God's Country," and means it from the bottom of his heart. Here, too, Canadian travellers, like ourselves, nearing the end of a 10,000-mile tour of these United States, might say: "How lucky we were to make the trip the way we did." For surely, if one wants to get the true perspective on the possibilities and realities of this mighty nation, one should finish the trip on the West Coast, and should enter California, as we did, from the south and finish with the north.



PHILPOTT

Coming across the California desert, you ask yourself, is there any place on earth so desolate? For the Southern California desert is truly barren. Even hop, skip and jump travellers like ourselves could literally gasp with the rare beauty of some of the cactus country in Arizona. By taking a short-cut across an old abandoned army artillery range we saw cactus growths in amazing variety and rare beauty.

But the Southern California desert is just dead.

Exotic Beauty

Then, in the twinkling of an eye, you come on the irrigated country. You come on the unbelievable oasis that the movie-makers picked as their capital. It would be a place of almost fantastic beauty anyway, with its exotic tropical trees and shrubs. But after the desert, it really seems to be something "out of this world"—and it is.

Then, as you drive north from Los Angeles, you see how wrong you were to jump to the conclusion that California's wealth rests on the flimsy celluloid foundation of the movies—a foundation which might be impoverished, say, by some new invention like television.

No, California really has just about everything. In the south nowadays you never get the smell of oil or orange tree blossoms out of your nostrils. In the north, you can smell the new-mown hay, the smell of good, clean horseflesh, or, best of all, the redwood forests.

I am not surprised that the folks hereabouts call this the redwood empire. For there is a majesty about these forests that is more than imperial in splendor.

California is a place of contrasts. There is more visible flamboyant wealth in and around Hollywood than I have ever seen elsewhere.

The money that pours into the box offices of the movie theatres of most of the world pours out like a fountain on Hollywood. And it falls on those who help make it and those who are just slick enough to scoop it off as it flows by.

But there is hardship and poverty in Hollywood, too—more drama, for instance, than there should be. And the day we got there they picked up a 24-year-old ex-navy man who had not eaten a meal for three days. He had just sold a pint of his blood to get some cash, but had fainted before he could reach the nearest restaurant.

Hearst's Estate

On the drive north you pass the mighty estate of the aged press lord, William Randolph Hearst, whose handling of his newspaper empire has made "yellow journalism" a phrase understood by all the world. He is just as anti-British and, for that matter, as anti-humanity, as he ever was.

Yet forty miles or so north of Hearst's domain you come on Carmel—my wife's favorite spot in all the U.S.—and when a nice local lady, just out of church, sees you standing on the street corner looking over the restaurants, she breezes up and says "Try the English Tuck Shop."

And, believe it or not, in an English Tuck Shop you get the most delicious native eaten in two cross-continental trips. But the obviously old school tie proprietor, after welcoming you, goes off to play cricket—yes, I mean cricket, not baseball, hockey, or even poker. Cricket in 1948, a stone's throw from the home of Hearst.

And in San Jose, in the Rosicrucian Museum, we see the finest display of relics from ancient Egypt that have even been gathered west of Chicago.

We hate to leave California, where we bought 15 dozen juicy oranges in a bag for 75 cents. But now that we are about to leave, we can tell an awful secret.

In the very heart of the California orange - growing district, where you literally can buy oranges by the bushel, they sell Arizona grapefruit at the roadside stands. The Californians like Arizona grapefruit better than the California variety—even as you and I.

Irish cottages are frequently very much in need of repair, and the Doherty's cottage was no exception. The door was very bad. It had to be raised upon a lever before it would spring open, and a large businesslike hatchet was used for this purpose.

One day a timid knock was heard at the door and the younger son was sent to see who it was. The younger son looked through a hole in the roof to see who was there.

"Sure, 'tis Mr. O'Gorman," he said.

"Then bring me the hatchet, bejabers," cried his father; but Mr. O'Gorman did not wait.

Palestine Seen As Crucial Test

The decision of the United States of America to recognize the new state of Israel has already become the subject of controversy. Even within its own borders there are those who suggest that it is either a very great blunder or is not un-connected with the forthcoming elections. What ought to be remembered, first and foremost, is that Israel is the creation of the United Nations, which either is or is not the world-authority in such matters, and that not only the United States but Canada took a very prominent and effective part in the decision that created it. As a matter of fact, the issue now raised is vital.

The question before the world is not only whether the United Nations is to be accorded obedience, but whether those who are responsible for its edict are prepared to stand by its authority. The great meeting held in Toronto, the demands even of sections of our press not always favorable to liberal ideas, and the absolute necessity of showing once and for all that world-government and international order are not mere dreams or shams, require that this matter receive immediate attention in a way much more practical than the addressing of questions to the contending parties in Palestine. The joicing on the part of the Jews may be premature, and their confidence in the future may find itself on a long, hard, blood-stained road, but the matter is no longer merely a question of them and the Arabs. It has become a crucial test of the United Nations and of the individual countries responsible for the creation of Israel.

Want Own Homeland

Nobody will imagine that all Jews wait to return to Palestine, any more than all Scotsmen who annually pipe in and address the haggis propose to resume permanent residence in Drumtochty. Apart from the results to the world and themselves, there is the question of the congestion in Drumtochty. Scotsmen pride themselves that they have solved the problem of a dual allegiance in a fashion others might note and imitate. The Jew has not quite accepted his dispersion in the same fashion as the Scot, and one reason may well be that he has had no country of his own on which to expend what the happily settled Scot bestows on the ancient kingdom overseas. Now that he can look to some spot of ground as the rightful and ancestral territory of his people, he may find it easier to enter into the full citizenship of other countries.

That the Jew has a claim to a portion, if not the whole, of Palestine, it is surely difficult to deny.

The Arab world is a very formidable generation, and it is that fact which prevents the firm handling of the situation, and which has prevented it all along. There is ample room for the Arabs in the world: they already have kingdoms of their own: there is a vast tract named after them: in addition to which, they have always remained somewhat detached from their soil, and have manifested little sentiment about it.

The Jews have no spot of earth to call their own, and they have a right to one. If we are to turn to Scripture, its authority is definitely on the side of the contention that Palestine is their Promised Land, and that there is a covenant involved. It was from that country that they sent forth their priceless contribution to human life and literature, and it is the homeland of Isaiah, Judas Maccabaeus, and, above all, of Jesus. The Jews did not lose it of their own free will, but were dragged thence or driven thence by ruthless military powers.

Christian Conscience

The Crusades may afford many grounds for criticism, but at least they embodied the passionate conviction that the Holy Land, and especially Jerusalem, held something about which the Christian conscience ought to be aroused, and the Christian cannot separate himself from the Jews in whose reliable Bible Christ lived and died, whose Scriptures are his own, and whose synagogue was the womb of the Church.

Shakespeare's Shylock has always been misunderstood, and has rarely been rightly rendered by any actor save Henry Irving. He dominates the play in lonely grandeur as the exhibition of what Christians have made a Jew —as human as themselves—become. Those who portray him as merely a covetous, villainous, or vengeful creature have never realized the obvious fact that he is Shakespeare's accusation of Gentiles. It is pathetic that that mighty work against anti-Semitism should have been tortured into an argument in favor of it. Personal relationships underlie everything. You cannot do successful business with people whom you despise and hold at arm's length.

Behaviour Blind Alley

Our behaviour to the Jew has not been a way into a blind alley, leading nowhere. If we were really Christians, we should apply the Golden Rule, and be astonished to find—as those have done who have made the experiment—what a success its practise has proved, even after centuries of the other attitude have warped the situation.

No man condones Jewish violence, any more than he excuses Gentile pogroms. We do, however, realize that there is still a prayer in the heart of the Jew that, if he forgets Jerusalem, his right hand may lose its cunning. Whatever the feeling of the Arab for Palestine, it is not that or anything like that. It is difficult to believe that either can be being given honest, unprejudiced, and really earnest attention. Although the fiat of the United Nations ought to be final, as the verdict of the parliament of mankind, there should be, especially in Christian hearts, a very clear and profound conviction that justice must be done to all, the Jew ought to have his homeland, and that every consideration of history, sentiment, and religion conspires to make good his title.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Always Comics

Editor, Bulletin—Comics! comics! comics! I'm one of those disgruntled adult whose children are always reading comics.

Mr. Editor, is there anything of educational value in these magazines? Truly I would like to know, I myself think not and those over which I have glanced contain nothing but poor English, silly instances, etc., in other words absolutely nothing to educate the mind of the 10-year boy or girl.

Also, aren't these mostly United States editions? I read some time ago of certain comics being prohibited, and was glad to know this; but something must have gone amiss for there are far less on the market I believe there must be more, at least there is every evidence in our house of this.

Maybe you will suggest not giving the children money for such trash—we don't—but did you ever hear of such a thing as trading or lending?

A while back we forbid our children to bring comics to the house to read and encouraged school library reading. Under a watchful eye it worked for a while but now, we seem to be right back where we started.

Not Much Of A King

Editor, Bulletin. — We are reading and hearing a lot these days of King Abdullah of Transjordan; see him pictured on the front pages at the head of his Arab Legion, or praying before shrines in old Jerusalem.

Over what does this king rule? Over less than 35,000 square miles of mostly sand, and a population of fewer than 400,000 people. King Abdullah's kingdom, in short, has about one-third of the population of the island of Montreal, fewer than one half of the population of greater Toronto, and roughly the population of the Ottawa Valley.

That isn't all. The total revenues of King Abdullah's kingdom are slightly over $2,000,000 a year; and that includes a grant in aid from the British; were he left to his own resources this much-publicized monarch and his court would probably starve to death. His domain, half desert, peopled largely by nomads, is backward in every respect, spends about $100,000 a year on education.

All in all, we should say that King Abdullah is not much of a king and, judging by his revenues (apart from his subsidies), hardly of the dimensions of a reeve.

Law And Justice

Editor, Bulletin. — The honor and prestige of the United Nations do not pretend on the execution of its recommendations. They depend rather on its sense of justice, its uprightness, and its respect for the rights of peoples. It will surely collapse if it deviates from law and justice, and, in endeavours to force an unjust decision.

The wise men of old said: "The state is a garden; its fence is justice." Certainly the fence of the United Nations should be justice, which would keep it from being run down, not persistence in wrong and injustice.

The wise men of old also said: "To return to the right is better than to persist in the wrong." If we therefore wish truly to serve its prestige, it is our duty to turn it off the wrong path, and not to collude with it in its persistence in injustice and gross blunders.

Displaced Persons

Many people in the U.S. now recognize that unless their great country sets an example by accepting many more of the D.P.'s, other smaller and less favored countries will not do much. The U.S. has taken 32,887 thus far, while Palestine has taken 38,700, Britain 48,600, Belgium and France have done well, and Canada has taken 13,887. There are still 860,000 in the internment camps.

Whether the U.S. will give a much better lead is very uncertain because opinion is very divided. There are two bills now in Congress, one in each house, to admit more of the D.P.'s, but some members would prefer to admit none at all, according to the New York Times, and others want a strict limitation of the number. Apparently, the number will have to be kept down to 50,000 a year—or 75,000 at most—for two years. And there is some danger even of such a bill not being passed, because of the crush of legislation toward the end of the session, and the desire of the members to wind up in less than three weeks on account of the two national political conventions. Innumerable conditions have been attached to both of the bills in order to get them past the opponents. Then the two houses will compromise on a bill.

None of the nations that have accepted any of the D.P.'s, have acted primarily from humanitarian motives. In spite of their pitiable condition in the camps, and the high quality of many of them as possible immigrants, the countries that have taken them have all chosen only those whom they are sure can make good use of. The practices of a very careful immigration policy are followed, though human sympathy would suggest that these be considerably loosened up.

Rhetorical Flourishes

Editor, Bulletin—It will be noticed that a great deal of exhortation is being directed to the expansion of Canadian exports. Mr. MacKinnon, acting minister of mines and resources, has come down strongly for more exports. Distinguished civil servants are writing articles to answer the question: How can we promote our export trade?

Apparently it still has not occurred to the men of Ottawa that the best, the quickest, the simplest and the most effective way to expand Canada's export trade would be first for the Dominion Government to repeal its embargo which makes it a crime to sell farm produce to the United States and second, to stop imposing an export tax on coarse grains.

Until these obvious things are done the authorities at Ottawa cannot expect to be taken seriously in their rhetorical flourishes about enlarged export trade.

Garbage Disposal

Editor, Bulletin.—Just now when we have the beautiful perfume of lilacs and honeysuckle everybody has to burn their evil smelling trash in their garbage cans so we have to close every screen door or window

What are the garbage collectors for if not to take this trash out to the dump? There ought to be a law to stop this, or make them burn it when the wind would blow the smoke into their own houses.

Also could the city not adopt a better type of garbage trucks even like a coal truck that heaves up and down. Likewise they need a cover to keep the papers from blowing off. One man covered garbage trucks is what we need.

And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not.—I Timothy 5.13.

By DeWitt Mackenzie

FROM TODAY'S NEWS

There is a growing mass of opinion in many countries that no real world recovery can be achieved until it is founded on moral rehabilitation.

During my travels abroad since the war I have found both statesmen and the general public reaching for new moral support. Churches and religious organizations have been swinging into action to meet the crisis.

That isn't strange when you stop to consider the widespread moral destruction wrought by the conflict. Many European countries still are struggling in the immoral morass Hitler created. And, quietly but persistently, Communism continues the anti-religious crusade on the premise that religion is the "dope of the masses" and renders them less pliable under aggressive totalitarian dictatorship.

Therefore many observers find great encouragement in the world assembly being held in Californ- Beldenhaven the 10th anniversary of moral re-armament. Attending the assembly are political, industrial and labor leaders from some 24 countries, including representatives from the crucial areas of Europe and the Far East. Dr. Frank Buchman, the Pennsylvania clergyman who founded M.R.A., set the conference in motion with a world-wide broadcast in which he referred to the scope of M.R.A. Thus:

"Moral re-armament is the good road of an ideology inspired by God upon which all can unite. Catholic, Jew and Protestant, Hindu, Moslem, Buddhist and Confucianist—all find they can travel along this road together.

And Paul G. Hoffman, European recovery program administrator for the United States, further interpreted the movement in a telegram saying in part:

"You are giving the world the ideological counterpart of the Marshall Plan."

In the language of the layman, MRA is "practical religion." That is, it calls on the individual to put into practice on week days what he hears taught from the pulpit on Sundays, and not leave his good intentions behind him in the church. It is non-sectarian.

Dr. Buchman has trained some 3,000 specialists, both men and women, in this ideology and they devote their whole time to the work throughout the world. In addition innumerable groups of adherents to MRA have been formed in 52 countries.

The efficacy of MRA was emphasized in startling manner just after the war when allied military authorities discovered in Berlin a secret German report dealing with MRA.

This report analyze the operations of MRA under leadership of Dr. Buchman and warned that it was an instrument of Christianity, dangerous to Nazism.

Ma-Me-O Beach Conditions Ideal

MA-ME-O BEACH, June 7. — Three glorious week-ends and almost perfect weather for the intervening days have made holidaying ideal at Pigeon Lake.

It looked for a while as if the beach at Ma-Me-O would be spoiled owing to the exceptional height of water. However, with the heavy runoff through Pigeon Creek, the water is gradually receding and what at one time seemed a drawback, now appears to be a blessing in disguise.

All foreign matter has been washed from the shore and the water in the lake has never been as clean and beautiful as it is this year.

The road to Pigeon Lake earlier was in very bad condition but the government has a crew of gravel haulers busy and the highway soon will be in good shape again.

Over the May 24 week-end, every cottage for rent at Ma-Me-O was filled to overflowing and it was surprising to see so many visitors for the last two.

WREN BUILDS NEST IN FARMER'S POCKET

WESTLOCK, June 7 — An eye for the "long and green" is owned by a wren on the A. H. McCabe farm. A week or so ago, Mr. McCabe threw his coat, with some money in one pocket, to one side in a shed on his farm while he attended to some work.

Forgetting it for a few days he found that someone else was using it. A wren had built her nest in the pocket, and with woman-like intuition had picked the pocket with the money.

Mr. McCabe says that the coat and the shekels stay put until the three eggs are hatched and the young have left home.

Last year, to escape depredations by sparrows and other birds a wren on the McCabe farm built her nest in the tractor tool box. Mr. McCabe says he was very disappointed to see one wren nest, built in a spot that was accessible to sparrows, torn to bits within hours of its construction by the vicious "Cheepsides".

Ralph Morgan Pulls A 'Cookie Lavagetto'

Robs Kanik Of No-Hitter, Mound Victory

By Stan Moher
Bulletin Sports Editor

Now Joe Kanik knows something of how Bill Bevens felt when 'Cookie' Lavagetto hit him for that numbing two-bagger on an October afternoon in 1947. It will be remembered that Lavagetto's shot to the wire screen, coming in the ninth inning, not only was the lone hit allowed by the New York Yankee righthander but as well it drove in a pair of runs to give Brooklyn a 2-1 World Series triumph.

Kanik, speedy Calgary Purity 99 moundsman, went against New Edmonton hotel Eskimos at Renfrew Park Saturday afternoon. Like Bevens he tossed a one-hitter. Like Bevens, he was knocked off in 2-1 style as Esks squared their week-end series at a game apiece.

Crafty Ralph Morgan, veteran Esk first sacker, was the gent who fouled up the doings for Kanik. In the sixth inning he walloped a towering triple to score Bill Price, who had walked, with what proved to be the winning run.

Doug Darrah, who opposed Kanik on the firing line, also elbowed a grand game. While not as brilliant as his opponent he was tough in the clutch. The lone Purity run resulted when Ernie Choukalos banged one a par the right field wall in the second inning.

Esks had opened with an unearned run in the first frame, the marker coming off a base-on-balls to Price and a pair of infield miscues.

STICK LIKE GLUE

As it turned out there was to be no separating of the teams in the four-game series which concluded Sunday afternoon.

Purity came right back Saturday night to dump Esks by a 4-3 score.

This also was a hurling duel with Oilers' southpaw Tony Maze besting Esks' Clarence Mellby.

Sunday afternoon it was again the turn of Esks. Jerry Seaman and Eddie Belter, who came on the scene in the eighth, held the Purity nine to a 2-1 victory in a tight-fisted contest which saw southpaw Jack Mills of the Calgary squad drop his first game after four straight wins.

The series was one of the most exciting and hard-fought in Big Four history. With any luck Esks might easily have won three of the four games.

Purvis Masters Buffs For Lone Cub Triumph

CALGARY, June 7. — (CP) — Calgary Buffaloes swept two games from Edmonton Cubs Sunday by 8-2 and 4-2 margins to gain a three-to-one edge in games in their four-game week-end series.

Cubs defeated the Calgary nine by a one-sided 8-2 margin Saturday and dropped a 9-6 decision to Buffs Friday.

George Petrunia's big bat and pitching of Pete Younie paced Buffs to their victory in the Sunday nightcap. Younie tossed eight-hit ball, while Petrunia smashed out three hits in as many official trips to the plate. Babe Work also belted a homer.

STEVENSON HITS 1.000

In the afternoon, Doug Stevenson equalled Petrunia's mark of three for three, reaching bases one other time on a catcher's interference for no official time at bat.

Saturday night, Cub's young Al Purvis kept nine hits well scattered to beat the Buffs 8-2. The young mound ace gave a masterful performance, never allowing more than two hits an inning and fanning seven of the Buffs batters who faced him.

Defeat Complex Prevails In Junior EAC Ball Camp

By Dick Beddoes

A losing blight, as persistent as the seven-year itch, prevails in the baseball camp of the EAC.

Actually the EAC defeat complex hasn't set for seven years, but, off past performance, it's only because the modern junior league isn't that old. Every season about this time the Clubmen drop through a trap door to oblivion. And 1948 hasn't started any differently for Budd Williamson's ballhawks.

They were kayoed 6-2 by South Side at Clarke Stadium Sunday for their fourth-straight loss. Don Crough set them down on three hits, while Scona nicked Bob Hoskins and Eric Wigeland for eight.

One tragic inning—the fifth—whisked EAC aside empty handed. In that particular frame South Side scored five runs on four hits and two errors. Al Bryant clouted a double to lead the rally with two runs batted in.

Canadians shaded Maple Leafs 2-1 in the second game. And quite a game it was, what with the Redlegs mailing a pair of earned runs to the mast in the seventh for their winning total.

THEN IT HAPPENED

Leafs led 1-0 going into the final inning. Then it happened and southpaw Buddy Noon's dream of his first victory in junior ranks was shattered.

With one out Colin Shaw clubbed a single to centre. He pulled up at third after Doug Ringrose lofted a double to the left garden, and scored via George McAvoy's single back of second base. Ringrose moving to third.

Jack Sugden, who has played spotty ball for the EAC all year, all with a bunt down the first base line which went for a sacrifice as Ringrose scooted home.

Besprectacled Andy Bedford, who came on for Ken Bailey in the fourth, received credit for the victory.

"BOYS" HOLD STAG FOR BILLY MAHER

It may cause the "little woman" to become a golf widow. In any case a group of Billy Maher's friends presented him with a "bag Boy"—a cart to carry golf clubs over the course—at a stag party for the hockey player, who will march down the aisle June 9.

Billy was out at the Country Club with the new vehicle over the week-end.

Flora Reid is the young lady who will say the "I do's" beside Maher, who was a member of the Edmonton Flyers, Allan Cup champs.

Among those who attended the party were Ab Newsome, Bob Stewart, Floyd Olsen, Pug Young, Elmer Kreller, Freddie Smitten, George Fredericks, George Hill, Rollie Newsome, Dr. R. Bolleau, Oscar Furin and Bob Carse.

PCH Loop Takes Its Place in Pro Company

MONTREAL, June 7. — (CP) — The Pacific Coast Hockey League Sunday took its place alongside the National, American and United States leagues when an affiliation agreement was completed which makes the West Coast circuit a full-fledged professional organization.

President Al Leader of the PCHL, met with Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League and representatives of the other two pro loops to draw up the agreement.

Last March the PCHL announced it would make application to the other professional leagues for full recognition as a pro circuit.

Leader said after Sunday's session that the agreement was satisfactorily to all concerned.

There are 10 clubs in the PCHL, Vancouver, New Westminster, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland from the Northern Division, with Oakland, San Francisco, Fresno, Los Angeles and San Diego in the Southern Division.

Leader said the PCHL, which had its greatest season last winter, felt the fans would get a better brand of hockey by going outright professional.

"Most of the PCHL clubs already have working agreements with teams in the other professional leagues and it is expected that before the 1948-49 season starts every club in the league will have t National or American League contact," said Leader.

CYO, BRAVES MAKE BALL DEBUT TONIGHT

Intermediate baseball resumes tonight at Renfrew Park when CYO and the Braves hook up at 7:30 p.m. It will be the first contest of the year for both clubs.

Horse Hills leads Tom O'Flaherty's six-team loop with two wins in as many starts. Texaco Oilers and Westmount are all even at one win and one loss, while RCAF have been beaten twice.

The Braves, who had expected sponsorship from a business firm, are on their own at the moment. In this case "their own" means a bunch of guys banded together in a "one-for-all" attitude because of a mutual love for baseball.

Sons' Manager Says "I'm Sorry"

REGINA, June 7. — (CP) — President Al Pickard of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has received an apology from Manager Ed Bruchet of Lethbridge Native Sons for remarks made about the refereeing of the Western junior hockey playoffs this year.

"While I was and still am displeased with the officiating," Bruchet said, "I realize I was indiscreet in using terms which imputed the honesty of CAHA officials and do now retract those statements and apologize for having made them."

COMBINED CITY CLUB BEATEN AT BARRHEAD

RCAF and Westmount clubs joined forces Sunday to battle Barrhead at baseball.

But the combined operations of the city intermediates didn't pan out too well on the Barrhead beachhead. Barrhead won 13-9.

Each team had heavy artillery, Westmount to the extent of 14 hits and Barrhead for 13. Johnny Flaska, one of three Barrhead chuckers, exploded the "pitchers don't hit" theory by blasting two home runs.

Ken McConkie led the Edmonton batters with four safeties in five trips.

Bruce Lakes Drubs Holden Fastballers

A hard-hitting band of fastball players from Bruce Lakes breezed into town Sunday, stopped over for a few short hours in Kingsway park, and then returned home with the provincial intermediate B men's championship tucked safely in their duffle bags.

It was a case of big bats vs. little bats as Bruce Lakes, swamped Holden Commandoes of Fred Skakun 22-3 in the lid lifter of the Sunday double-header bill. Legionnaires of the Senior Men's League eked out a 7-6 triumph over Henry Singer's in the follow up.

The provincial series (1947 edition) had been indefinitely postponed eight months ago, after the final was snowed out. W. Midgette was presented with the cup on behalf of the team by Clare Hollingsworth, president of the AFA.

The southerners, with batting power all down the line, ripped the Holden defences to shreds in the first five innings, and then toured the sacks almost at will in the remaining four frames. They polished off the massacre in fine style, scoring seven runs in the last inning.

20 SAFE TAPS

Henry Geier, who batted in five runs for Bruce Lakes, also smacked the first home homer of the lid. In all the boys from the Lakes struck for 20 safe knocks, and every stan in the lineup had at least one bingle. John Story hit the long ball for the losers, a three-bagger to start the sixth inning.

A six-run Singer uprising in the seventh frame wasn't quite enough as the "suiters" were nosed out by a whisker by Legionnaires in the second game.

Field captain Mac Colville, late of Vancouver Canucks, of the PCHL, paced the hickory-totters with a triple, double and single in four times up. They were Mac's first hits of the season. Ross Macbeth of Legionaires, and Ben Nelson, Singer's belted three-base knocks.

What Of The Split Schedule, Mr. Roche?

You can wager a clam or two that Henry J. Roche, president of the Big Four Baseball Loop, as well as the various team heads (with one possible exception) will not care a little bit for the following suggestion.

It is that they immediately take steps to scrap the present plans for determining a winner in the inter-city circuit in favor of a split schedule.

In other words lets have a first half and second half to the schedule, declare a winner in each, match them at the end of the season for the league title.

A quick look at the standings, with particular emphasis on the plight of the Cubs, should bring home the need for a fresh start, say along about July 1.

With two wins in 18 starts Laurel Harney's club is way down there with the weather report. Considering the long lead which the other teams have opened up on the Motormen it would take a Joe Di Maggio and a Ted Williams, each slugging away at his best lick, to put the Cubs back in there between now and the end of the schedule.

They have been distanced . . . but good.

* * * *

Maybe Yet Enough, But Too Late

Nevertheless, there are signs that things may be about to pick up for the Harneymen. For one young Al Purvis had what it took to stop the Buffs by an 8-2 score at Calgary Saturday night. This is in the nature of a real shot in the arm.

In the second game of the Sunday twin-bill newcomer Kelly, not many hours off a plane after a trip over the mountains from San Francisco and Vancouver, also pitched well.

More reinforcements will be on the way from California and other points by June 15. The Cub attack has been coming along.

All well and good.

The point is, though, that only a streak of successes reminiscent of Boston's wonder team of 1914, the Braves, can put the Harneymen back in contention for the top slot.

Boston's storied Braves were in last place on July 4, bounced back to win the National League bunting. They have gone down in diamond history as the 'Miracle Braves.'

We can't see Laurel Harney as keen to stake his all on the off chance of another miracle. Why not a fresh start?

* * * *

It's Almost As Old As Baseball

There's plenty of precedent in baseball for the split schedule. As a matter of fact hardly a league in the organization end of the game, barring the majors, but has tried it with varying success in this part.

As well there's precedent for a belated decision, as this would be, to give the first half-second half plans a whirl. Heads of more than one loop have met after the original schedule was well underway and agreed to split it up.

Right now Purity 99, Buffaloes and Eskimos, running 1-2-3 in the standings, all are capable of winning a race for what could easily come to be known as first half honors.

Not that Cubs wouldn't aim to beat off the earn of each every time they tangled in the remaining engagements of the first half. They certainly would.

In the meantime, though, the knowledge that an improving Cub team was likely to be a real factor in the second half would act as a spur all over the league.

John Ducey and John Beatty, Renfrew Park lessees, will tell you that attendance even at games between the Esks and the Calgary squads is being adversely affected because of the lowly position of the Cubs.

Well?

RECORD WRECKER Harrison Dillard can knock a dime off the top board with his trunks. And that, says Olympic track coach Dean Cromwell, makes him the perfect hurdler.

Highlands Retains Coveted Golf Cup

Mayfair Club Comes Second In Close Race

By Bert Greer

The coveted McMullen Trophy, emblematic of inter-club golf supremacy, is still perched atop the Highland'a mantlepiece, but for the first time in three years it is tilted at a precarious angle.

Unlike last season when the star-spangled Highlands team won the trophy in a breeze, the champs emerged with a scant 20-point margin over Mayfair this year. The final tallies were Highlands 203; Mayfair 183; Municipal 115 and Country Club 99. Last season the figures were: Highlands 242; Mayfair 160; Municipal 129 and Country Club 69.

All of which appears to suggest a better balance in golf talent is developing among the clubs. Highlands is still the powerhouse, but every other club made a better showing this season than last.

Highlands vanquished the Country Club 74-26 Sunday and Mayfair crushed Municipal 76-24.

BREAK WINNING STRING

Reg (Pep) Moon and Bob Carse ended the long run of Highlands' A team successes this season taking major points from Emil Martell and Jim Harper. In another near upset Vern Mohs and Ken Jennings came through with a one-up victory over Johnny MacDonald and Emerson Mack after making the turn three down. The Country Clubbers missed a couple of pars on the back nine to help the Highlands' aces out.

Over at the Country Club Cal Keys and Bob Morgan tossed some pretty hot golf at Gordon Grierson and Fred Campbell for the only big win in the B section. Morgan was in top putting form, scoring birdies on the second, third and tenth.

Earl Dingle and Harry Allan carried Art New and Doug Murray to the 18th, before losing out. Both three-putted.

CLOSE MATCHES

Mayfair's B team was given a hectic time at the Municipal, three matches ending on the 18th green. Charlie Smith and Joe Harvey were one up coming home and got a half on the 18th to beat John Drever and Don Crawford; Andy Eagle and Eddie Morel won the 18th to edge Dave Barry and Doug Mavesety, while Rod McKenzie and Amby Allard defeated Tom McCreedy and Bruce Collins at the same spot.

Tommy Vickers, whose putter was sprinkled with a little magic, and Pete Marples, scored the only Municipal success at the Mayfair. They edged out Lloyd Greer and Eddie Thomas 3-2. Vickers canning a sizeable putt on the 16th for the victory.

Gillings Chalks Up Double "Hat Trick"

A hat trick — three successive goals by an individual — is really something. But when a soccer player scores a double hat trick in league play, a place in the hall of fame would almost appear a small reward.

If there was such a spot as a hall of fame for football greats, then Dave Gillings would rightly belong with those immortals. He rifled in six straight goals Saturday evening at Clarke Stadium to give the North Side Legion an 8-3 triumph over the RAF.

Anavets had a little too much on the ball for the dashing Maple Leaf Juniors, and emerged with a 5-0 shutout in Sunday's fixture in the Edmonton and District Football League.

But for the magic toe of Gillings, who played high-class soccer in England before crossing the pond, the Airmen would have made a better showing. The score was far from an indication of the play in a game that produced a lot of clever soccer by both sides.

FIGHTING SPIRIT

The airmen displayed a good quantity of fighting spirit, too. After Gillings had booted in a couple of amick goals early in the first half, Tom Lewis of the RAF struck back with a pair of fast ones on nifty plays. However, Gillings picked up three more before the breather and the North Side was well on its way to its third straight victory.

Gillings was still in a scoring mood at resumption of play and booted in his sixth. Russell and Bill Thomas completed the scoring for the Legion and bill French found the target for the Airmen during a scramble in front of the net.

Army and Navy Vets displayed too much experience for the Juniors footed Leafs, who relied mainly on speed and gentral hustle. The juniors played a hard game, but they didn't have a single break in front of the uprights

Cleveland Indians Drop Roof on A's

NEW YORK, June 7. — (CP)—It looks as if the roof has finally fallen in on the Philadelphia Athletics.

After carrying on a spirited duel for first place in the American League with Cleveland Indians through most of the early season, the A's entertained the Tribe over the week-end in a "crucial" series. The Indians whipped Connie Mack's best pitchers to sweep all three games.

That left the Indians 2½ games in front, with the Tribe a bare half game ahead of the third-place New York Yankees who took three out of three from the St. Louis Browns.

In the National League, St. Louis Cardinals regained first-place by a half game over New York Giants as the New Yorkers dropped two out of three while the Red Birds took one from Brooklyn Dodgers and two more from Philadelphia Phillies.

Bob (Squeeze) Lemon, the converted infielder-outfielder who is stealing Bobby Feller's stuff on the Cleveland mound staff, bested Philadelphia's Phil Marchildon 5-3 in the first Sunday game for his eighth victory of the season—tops in both leagues. Steve Gromex threw a six-hitter and the Tribe got 16 safeties off Dick Fowler and Bob Savage to win the nightcap 11-1.

The Yanks got a three-hit shutout from Vic Raschi for a 3-0 win over the Browns in Sunday's nightcap after pinch-hitter Sherman Lollar singled home the deciding tally in a 4-3 score in the opener. It was Raschi's seventh straight win and second straight shutout.

Richie Ashburn's 23-game batting streak was a casualty in the Cardinals' double victory over Philadelphia Phils. Jim Hearn snapped the string as he limited the Phils to four hits for an 11-1 win in Sunday's opener.

Sportsmen Cricketers Take Fourth Straight

Sportsmen cricketers haven't lost a game thus far this season and RCAF haven't won one. Sunday afternoon the league-leading Sportsmen bowled and batted to their fourth-successive win while scoring a decisive 123 for seven wickets to 86 triumph over the luckless Airmen at the Golf Links pitch.

In a sturday afternoon match Harlequins defeated Edmonton Club 132-51.

Maurice Grant provided most of the highlights in the Sunday game. He was a vital cog in the sportsmen's machine, taking six wickets for 16 runs, in addition to scoring 25 runs himself.

Harlequine had little trouble turning back Edmonton nine Saturday afternoon, Ralph Jones with 63, D. Bowley and T. Roebuck with 21 apiece were top scorers for the winners.

Higher Church Pensions Urged

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—Increase in pensions for retired Presbyterian ministers Saturday was recommended to the 74th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada by C. M. Pitts of Ottawa.

Present pensions for ministers retired at 70 after 40 years of service are "totally inadequate," he said. He urged that rates be boosted from the present $8.75 for every year of service, to $10. This would raise the total pension from $350 to $400.

Chairman of the pension board, Pitts said 113 retired ministers, 135 widows and 13 children received $75,214.03 from the church last year. His board had a surplus of $168,000.

A petition for ministers' retirement at 65 after 35 years of service was rejected by the pension board.

"In order to grant retirement at 65, present pension rates for ministers would have to be increased 75 per cent," he explained. "Rates for widows and children would also have to go up."

CSU Is Striking Against 4 Firms

Charges Agreements Violated By Great Lakes Companies

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—Members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) were on strike today against four Great Lakes shipping companies which have refused to sign agreements with it.

The union charged that the companies had "violated their agreements with the union" and had "broken every labor law." It claimed late last night that the strike action had affected 16 of the lines' 80 ships.

But a spokesman for Canada Steamship Lines, one of the companies involved, predicted in Montreal last night that the strike would not last long "because police undoubtedly will step in to maintain law and order."

POLICE ARRIVE

(At Cornwall a truckload of Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrived yesterday and Ontario Provincial Police reinforcements from Ottawa were reported on their way.)

The spokesman said the reason CSU president Harry Davis gave for the strike was "a brazen lie." He said the contract with the CSU had terminated and the legal six-months' notice given.

The CSL was under no obligation whatever to deal with the CSU and the labor department had not once suggested that it should deal with Tankers.

THEY EASILY GET FROTHY

RICHMOND, Va., June 7.—(AP)—The arguments hadn't even started, but several candidates for the Richmond city council just missed frothing at the mouth.

Somebody had filled the water pitcher on the rostrum with liquid soap.

The meeting chairman took a sip, frothed—and saved the candidates.

it to the exclusion of any other union."

COMMUNIST CHARGES

The lines refused to deal with the CSU, claiming it was Communist-led. The CSU insisted it was the recognized bargaining agent. The dispute has simmered for two months while members of the rival Canadian lake seamen's union sailed the companies' ships.

The other lines involved are the Sarnia and Colonial Steamships, Northwest Steamships and Transit Tankers.

Alberta's Social Crediters Not Officially Recognized

MIDGET RACING, long popular in American centres as a nerve tingling sport, may make its debut in Alberta this summer under guiding hand of miniature car-builder Elmer Davey, 11935 97 street. Probe Reopens Tuesday a.m.

Probe of child welfare conditions in Alberta will resume Tuesday morning at 9:30 at the Edmonton court house.

Royal Commission investigating welfare adjourned 10 days ago when the chairman, Chief Justice W. R. Howson, was ordered to hospital by his physician.

The chief justice was reported to be in fairly good health today and ready to proceed with the hearings.

Counsel associated with the government child welfare commission express the belief the probe will conclude in the next two weeks.

C. B. Hill, chairman of the child welfare commission, was still on the stand when hearings adjourned.

Once Mr. Hill has completed his testimony other witnesses are not expected to require much time on the stand.

British Organ Lists Only Five Canadian Groups

Alberta's "Douglas Social Credit Council" is not on the list of official councils recognized by the British Social Crediter.

The latest issue of the paper, official organ of the Social Credit Secretariat in England, shows only five Canadian groups registered.

The paper is considered to be the mirror of the opinions of Major C. H. Douglas, "father" of the movement.

Only Alberta group listed is the South Edmonton DSC group headed by R. H. Ashby, son of Pat Ashby, MP for East Edmonton.

The other Canadian groups listed, four in number, are: two in Ottawa, (a parliamentary group and the DSC Bureau of Canada); one in Vancouver and one in Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

Head of the Douglas Social Credit Council for Alberta is A. V. Bourcier, MLA, Lac Ste Anne, one-time chairman of the now defunct Social Credit Board.

At the time of its inception, the local branch was said by spokesmen to have the "blessing" of the Social Credit Secretariat.

Omission of a group name from the list in the official publication is not generally considered a blessing, party members said.

Included in the copy of the Social Crediter is a form to be filled out by groups who desire to act in accordance with the advice of the secretariat."

By filling out the form, organizations undertake to subscribe to the Social Crediter regularly and "not to discuss with others, without authorization, the details of special advice received from the secretariat."

Other members of the Alberta DSC council are J. P. Gillese, former editor of the Canadian Social Crediter, Kenneth Burton, a writer for the paper, and R. Earl Ansley, former minister of education who resigned during the 1948 session of the legislature.

Seeding Nears Completion

All Alberta seeding will be finished by Saturday according to a crop report issued today by the Alberta Pacific Grain Company.

Though the delay in spring seeding was due in excess moisture conditions, crops in large parts of the province are already in need of rain, the grain company's report said.

The whole eastern half of the province and the entire Peace River district is showing need for moisture. Warm weather and drying winds have lifted top-soil moisture with the result germination in these districts is slow.

Seeding in a narrow corner of the province southwest of Calgary is most seriously delayed, it is reported. It is said only 70 per cent of the wheat and 40 per cent of the coarse grains are seeded.

In the rest of Alberta percentage of wheat in the ground varies from 85 to 95 per cent and coarse grains from 50 to 70 per cent.

Ukrainian Canadians To Convene In City

Ukrainians meet in Edmonton June 10 to 13.

One hundred and twenty delegates from throughout Alberta are expected to attend the provincial convention of the United Ukrainian Canadians in Edmonton June 10 to 13.

The convention will be held in the Ukrainian Labor Temple, 10628 96 street.

Meetings will be open to the public, but only official delegates will have the right of discussion.

Scheduled for consideration is a resolution protesting the entry to Canada of Ukrainian Nazi collaborators under the guise of DP's.

The convention will conclude with a picnic in Victoria Park Sunday.

Seven Posts Gone, Man Fined $50

A man who demolished seven steel posts on a 126-street bridge was fined $50 and costs or three months at Fort Saskatchewan, in police court Saturday.

Charged with dangerous driving, Norman A. Anderson, 8822 95 street, pleaded guilty before Magistrate A. I. Millar.

According to evidence Anderson was driving east on 102 avenue about 11:20 p.m. Friday.

As he approached the bridge at 126 street he is believed to have lost control of his vehicle and ploughed into the posts.

Kiwanis Golfers Play Today

Fifty members of the Edmonton club will be taking part in the tournament.

Play will be for the Andy Whyte trophy, which is being presented for the first time this year in tribute to Mr. Whyte, a prominent member of the Edmonton club.

Fire Damages Three Shops

Smoke damage to merchandise in three Jasper avenue stores was caused by fire, early Saturday night.

Fire, believed to have started in leather scraps in Leckie Shoe Repairs at 10083 Jasper avenue spread across the floor to neighboring stores.

Two lines of hose were used to bring the fire under control about 7:30 p.m.

Alarm was turned in by J. Sager 9111 99 street, who saw smoke issuing from a rear door of the premises.

Fireman had to chop away sections of the floor to control the blaze.

Managers of Leckie Shoe Store, Banks Shoe Store and La Parisienne Drugs, stated damage was mainly by smoke and water.

Inventories on damage are being taken today.

All merchandise was covered by insurance.

Cargo Saved In Sinking

About 65 tons of the cargo which went down when a Northern Transportation Company barge sank near Waterways has been recovered, Frank W. Broderick, NTC managing-director said today.

Heavy losses were suffered by three or four people who didn't have their shipments insured, Mr. Broderick said, but most of the cargo was covered by insurance.

"One paper company lost all his summer's equipment," the managing director said.

Some of the people felt that the transportation company should be responsible for the losses, but the company offers facilities for shippers to insure all their goods, Mr. Broderick said.

Almost half of the total cargo was salvaged from the wreckage, but some of it cannot be identified.

Students Nab Housebreaker

A man apprehended by a posse of University students Friday, elected to be tried in supreme court on housebreaking charges, Saturday.

William Zemenchuk, Cecil Hotel, was arrested by police Friday following his capture by student's on the campus.

No plea was taken in police court Saturday.

He was remanded until June 10 for preliminary hearing.

Zemenchuk was tracked down following reports by students of a prowler in residences over a period of a week.

About $40 in cash was taken from a student's room May 29, police said.

Zemenchuk is alleged to have been seen in corridors and rooms at residences.

A group of students followed the man through residences Friday and apprehended him on the campus.

One Hurt, One Jailed In Accident

One man is in hospital and another man arrested for dangerous driving as a result of two automobile accidents on the Fort Road Saturday night.

Arrested for dangerous driving is Brian McKenna, 11404 88 street, who was involved in an accident about 2 a.m. Sunday.

McKenna is alleged to have struck a car driven by Andrew Andrichuk, 7608 119 avenue near 84 street on the Fort road.

Andrichuk's car was damaged on the left side.

Front fender, both doors and running board were battered on Andrichuk's car.

In another accident near midnight Saturday Elson Lavoie, 12008 81 street, was taken to Royal Alexandra hospital.

Lavoie suffered a broken elbow and shock, according to hospital officials.

Philip Ragamey, North Edmonton, told police he was driving east on the Fort Road between 66 street and 67 street when a car driven by Lavoie hit the left side of his truck.

Lavoie's vehicle overturned on its right side.

Extensive damage was caused to the left side of Ragamey's truck.

No charges have been laid by police.

A Poor-Man's Henry Ford Is Edmonton's Elmer Davey

By Harold Delany

"Specialist in the unusual" is the self-imposed title of Elmer Davey, midget car builder on Edmonton's North Side.

But to the goggle-eyed kids who watch with open-mouthed awe, while he transforms old hunks of metal and wheel-barrow wheels into pint-sized, but sturdy vehicles, a more apt title might be "The Wizard of Oz."

Elmer's creations are tailor-made to fit the day-dreams of every boy, but there are some pretty big boys (anywhere up to 60) who have put in orders for one type or another of the "wee" run-a-bouts.

First job to come off the home-workshop production line at 11935 97 street was a two-wheeled scooter for the "boss," himself.

This was strictly from necessity though, and not just a casual idea.

Gunner Davey was discharged from the Artillery in 1943 because of a bad leg picked up in an Army motor-cycle smash.

So, to save wear and tear on the leg and pocketbook, he built himself a "pusher-putt."

But that turned out to be just the beginning.

Next came one for his brother, then this friend, then that friend; to date, in fact, there have been eight of them made and sold.

FROM THE BOOK

Somewhere along the line, "Scooter-king" Davey decided to become "Car-builder" Davey.

Besides, his creative fancy had been intrigued by the midget cars and racers he had seen while leafing through the machinist's Bible — "The Popular Mechanics" magazine.

Following the magazine's illustrations, but making his own modifications, Elmer has almost finished a midget racer that is going to have every youngster in town "working" on his father to get it for him.

But despite the small proportioned (6 feet long, 3 feet wide and 3 feet high), it will be too much of a "hot-rod" for kids to play with.

Builder Davey expects the 250 pound speeder to do at least 60 miles-per-hour with its five hp "Busy Bee" engine — and at 65 miles to the gallon as well.

Creator of the small racers wants to build at least four of them by next Spring.

RACE PLANS

Manning one himself and with his brother and two friends in the others, he intends to race them either here or in Calgary, after the style of Edmonton's Model "T" races.

Most recently completed job at the Davey "car factory" was for a young lad whom Elmer calls "the luckiest boy in the world." And the neighborhood kids certainly agree when they see five-year-old Jimmy Keir, 11112 97 street, driving around in his midget tractor which is a replica of the big onea.

Mr. Davey hopes, someday, to do this sort of work full-time. And when he does, it will be quite a departure from his pre-war job as a packinghouse butcher.

SUCCESSORS

If Elmer Davey does found a permanent machine shop, the business certainly won't die with him. The 34-year-old father has three sons, aged 9, 10 and 11, who will step right into his welding boots.

Mrs. Davey is completely in accord with her husband's plans.

A small-vehicle enthusiast, she can often be seen clutching her mate as they ride about the town on their scooter.

Whether or not Mrs. Davey will venture in the racer is another matter altogether. After all, she is a housewife and the mother of three young sons.

If present plans materialize, Mr. Davey expects to have a display of his wares at the Edmonton Exhibition this year.

City Air Cadets To Be Inspected

About 100 members of the Edmonton Air Cadet squadron will parade for special inspection tonight at No. 5 hangar at RCAF station Edmonton at 8 o'clock.

Eric Duggan, provincial vice-chairman of the Air Cadet League of Canada, said today that inspection of all squadrons in northern Alberta is nearing completion.

The inspections have been going on for about three weeks and 25 Alberta squadrons were to be inspected.

Air Vice-Marshal K. M. Guthrie, air officer commanding, North West Air Command, is expected to be on hand for the inspection tonight.

He will be accompanied by other air force officers and Maurice Brown, Calgary, provincial chairman of the air cadet league.

To Curb Vandals Police Say

Precautions against vandalism to city schools will be started soon, according to city police officials today.

With the approach of the school holiday season, special police patrols will be used to prevent damage to the buildings, police said.

Most trouble in past years has been caused by youths breaking windows in the schools, they stated.

Parents are urged to warn their children against damage to school property.

Rifle Meet July 11 To 17

Alberta Provincial Rifle Association Prize Meeting will be held at Sarcee Ranges, Calgary, July 11 to 17.

All-caliber rifle and pistol competitions will be held.

Forest Heights HSA To Meet Wednesday

Monthly meeting and election of officers of the Forest Heights Home and School Association will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school.

Gale In Britain Causes Damage

LONDON, June 7.—(Reuters) — Heavy rains and a 50-mile-an-hour gale swept Britain last night causing damage and floods in widely-separated parts of the country.

Lake Ogwen, largest in Snowdonia, North Wales, reached its highest recorded level and threatened to overflow into the Nant Francon valley, dotted with farm houses, 500 feet below.

Late last night the wind dropped and the danger was averted, but in the same area the River Conway overflowed its banks and inundated many hundreds of acres of farmland.

Many yachts and small boats were in difficulty along the coast.

Lifeboats were out and fishing vessels and coasters ran for shelter. Coast guards on the east coast were on gale watch.

Sailing boats sank at their moorings in the Menai Straits, between the mainland of North Wales and the Island of Anglesey, a popular yachting centre.

Blown off a cliff top at Whitby, Yorkshire, a 12-year-old boy was found by fishermen sitting on a rock 200 feet below. He was taken to hospital.

AT THE AIRPORT

Traffic May Pass 1943 Wartime Peak

By Don Killips

Since the end of the war, traffic at Edmonton's airport has been on a steady increase, each month's figures surpassing those of the previous month, until now it is hitting a dizzy pace.

A total of 8,043 commercial planes landed and took off from the huge runways during May.

"This is a big increase even over the month of April," Captain James Bell, manager of the airport said. "For the same month a year ago, there were only about 3,000 arrivals and departures."

* * *

This actually does not give a true picture of the passenger travel, the manager points out.

"You have also to consider the size of the aircraft. Some trips now are carrying twice as many passengers as they were a year ago."

Capt. Bell expects the total arrivals and departures to rival the peak year of the war, 1943.

Figure for that year was more than 80,000, he said.

* * *

Freight, as well as passenger travel, is also increasing remarkably.

During the three-month period January 1 to March 31 2,500,000 pounds of freight were handled through the Edmonton airport.

British Columbia's crippling floods, although causing a national disaster, is giving air travel one of its greatest shots-in-the-arm in Western Canada.

* * *

Hundreds of rail passengers whose trips were interrupted by washouts in the coast province, have taken their first plane rides.

And many claim they will never travel any other way.

"Why, one old lady in Calgary said she thought it was 'wonderful'," Capt. Bell said. "She cancelled three trips before she finally made up her mind to fly from Vancouver," he added.

* * *

A report out of Calgary has it that airline officials at Los Angeles are considering a proposed non-stop Western Airlines flight from Alberta to Denver, Colo.

Officials here said they had no knowledge of the proposed flight.

It would connect both Calgary and Edmonton with the American schedules through Great Falls, Salt Lake City, and Los Angeles.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Travelling Irons Boon to Vacationer

By Bea Thrifty

Vacation days are lurking around the corner of your summer plans and it's high time you were setting your wardrobe in a travelling condition.

No matter how expertly you pack a suitcase — there's bound to be a few wrinkles in your crisp summer frocks.

So top-of-the-list of travelling companions is a special little iron that can be tucked away in a small corner of your bag and used anywhere there is electricity.

You can bid a fond farewell to a ten-dollar bill if you buy one of these—but it's money well-spent.

* * *

Fragile, delicate and painstakingly detailed Coalport ornaments are on display in china departments all over town.

Birks, especially, has a beautiful array of the wares.

There are tiny baskets of pastel-colored flowers—some selling for $2.38. One beauty was a pale turquoise miniature bulb-bowl with tiny picture-perfect tulips and narcissi . . . This sold for $4.36.

Each petal, each leaf is formperfect and color-true.

* * *

More eye-catching bric-a-brac is the Royal Doulton china—that I've mentioned many a time before.

More and better characters grace the petite or giant-size mugs. You can pay anywhere from $1.10 up for these attractive and highly interesting efforts.

All the rouguishness and merriment of Dickens most beloved book-people have been colorfully portrayed.

* * *

Shower gift bringing oh's and ah's was a pretty rose bowl containing a single rose. The bowl was small and not too expensive —the flower, sweet-smelling and delicately shaded.

Nice sweetness and light—hearts and flowers sort of thing.

* * *

More chocolate goodies in the shape of chocolate macaroons. You can make 'em yourself—or buy them a la bakery—for 35c a dozen.

* * *

This is the season when attractive gift-wrapping assumes a flowering air.

Pin a lilac, a fresh white daisy or a few sprigs of honeysuckle to the ribbon tying your package —with your own individual touch.

* * *

I've been coldly ignoring the vegetable question thus far—but I suppose I can't continue to be an escapist.

My reticence springs from reluctance to accept high costs such as 70c a pound for tomatoes in June, 30c for a head of lettuce and 45c for an undernourished cucumber.

Oh well—I s'pose we're lucky to have any at all.

* * *

It's still tulip-time and 39c will buy the big, bright yellow flowers—one dozen, that is—Then if you hit the right moment you can buy carnations for $1 a dozen. Can't say I like carnations much —but there are those who do.

Browzing through the market building you can pick up multi-colored snapdragons for 75c a bunch—a small bunch.

* * *

DESSERT NOTE: Bake a feathery sponge cake in a ring mold—pile center with fresh frozen berries or cantaloupe and top with sweetened whipped cream—or custard sauce—pretty as a picture and twice as good to eat.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Occasional Night Off Needed for Husband

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married for ten years to a good, kind man. He is a wonderful husband and father and I love him dearly.

Now this is my problem: He likes to play cards and one night a week he indulges in this pleasure with some of his men friends, playing for very small stakes, but here is the rub:

My family is about to drive me crazy by constantly warning me that in time my husband will want to play for big money and that he will become a confirmed gambler and that I should put a stop to it right now.

He has never dictated to me about what I should do and I hate to make any objections to anything he wants to do. What is your opinion?

WORRIED.

ANSWER: There isn't a particle of harm in your husband having a little game of cards with his friends once a week, and there isn't the slightest danger of it leading to anything except an evening's innocent diversion.

You should speed him on his way instead of raising ructions about it, as your family want you to do.

There is no quicker or surer way of alienating a husband's affections than by being a spoilsport and standing in the way of everything he wants to do.

For no man marries to get a jailer, nor does he marry to get somebody to supervise his morals and tell him what he may do and may not do. And particularly, he doesn't get married to have his wife's people censor him.

MAN NEEDS TIME OFF

What a man wants to do he is going to do, that is, if you married a man and not a mouse. He will do it openly and above board if you let him, but he will lie to you and do it behind your back if you force him to, for the sake of peace.

So the sensible thing is to do as you have done and acquiesce cordially in your husband's desire to have an evening off every week with his men friends.

Tell your family that you and your husband feel perfectly competent to run your own affairs and that they must keep their fingers out of your pie.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Baby Formulas Made On Age, Weight Basis

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Most formulas are figured in much the same fashion. The age and weight of the baby are taken into consideration and then stated amounts of milk, water and sugar are furnished for each pound of baby's weight.

At first, the amount of milk will be about one and one-half ounces per pound (half this amount for evaporated milk) and very shortly this will be upped to two ounces per pound, or one ounce per pound for evaporated.

The baby cannot take milk enough at a feeding to provide his fluid needs, for he couldn't digest this much of a strange food. He needs at least 2½ to 3 ounces of fluid for each pound of weight. So the additional ounces consist of boiled water added to the milk. The larger formula makes the baby better satisfied, dilutes the milk so it is more digestible and gives him the necessary fluid.

When there is a rough estimate of the amount of milk and water needed, the formula has to have some sugar. This isn't added just to make the baby happy. It is an endeavor to make the values of cow's milk like the breast milk which the baby should have.

Human milk is much sweeter than animal milks and so extra sugar is added to give baby more nourishment of a type to which he is entitled.

The amount of sugar will be about three tablespoons of the corn syrups or cane sugar or honey, and double this amount of the lighter-weight maltose, for each TEN pounds of baby's weight.

The difference in amount of sugar in the formula may be just the difference between baby's satisfaction, the normal functioning of his bowels and the very opposite.

These suggestions about formulas are intended to help a mother check her present formula and determine why it may not be satisfying the baby's needs. If she has a personal pediatrician to do this for her, nothing could be finer. But many a mother lets the neighbors or someone else equally uninformed tell her the formulas they used for their children. It's well for her, when she has the responsibility of feeding her infant, to make herself conversant with the available information about this important subject.

Our leaflet, No. 22, "Formulas and Early Feeding," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—Hollywood is not so much a georgraphical location as it is a state of mind, a mode of talking, a form of behavior.

Despite its polyglot population, Hollywood is a great leveller. Unless you're careful, you quickly fall into the town's pattern. You, too, can be a Hollywood character . . . if you call all your friends "Sweetheart" and your enemies "honey" . . . if you are a sun-worshipper and always wear dark glasses, indoors and out, as your badge of honor . . .

If you own a convertible and keep the top down even in a driving rainstorm . . . if you would rather dress colorfully than conservatively . . . if you never wear a hat and wouldn't be caught dead in a tuxedo. . . .

"If you have had an ulcer . . . if you talk about getting rid of that paunch but never do anything about it . . . if you can quote last week's gross at Radio City Music hall . . . If you tip the head waiter more than your lunch bill. . . .

If you can quote Walter Pidgeon's latest limerick and Oscar Levant's most recent wisecrack . . . if you plan some day to write a book exposing Hollywood . . . if you can't walk half a block on Vine street without meeting 10 other characters you know. . . .

If you'd rather talk about your most interesting subject—yourself —than anything else . . . if you've had a date with Yvonne De Carlo or Audrey Totter . . . if you pick up a newspaper and read the movie columns, racing chart, comics and front page, in that order. . . .

If you do all these things, Bub, you're a full-fledged Hollywood character.

Re-Decorating Home Giant-Size Problem

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—The trouble with most women who set out to redecorate the family home is they try too hard, says an expert.

Dan Cooper, well-known designer of home furnishings, explains that, bedazzled by pictures, confused by conflicting advice, the average woman starts out to select new furnishings in a happy daze.

She is torn between admiration for Louis XIV and Swedish modern, French provincial and American colonial and usually winds up in a heap in between.

Or, says Cooper, the lady may decide to reproduce a room pictured in her favorite publication, down to the last tie-back, without stopping to consider how it fits the needs of her own family.

The designer, just returned from a lecture tour in which he was besieged with questions from confused amateur decorators, feels strongly on the subject.

He has aired some of his views in a book, "Inside Your Home," is responsible for such divergent productions as the "House of Ideas" shown in Rockefeller Centre in 1938 and demountable furniture used by the U.S. Army Air Corps during the war.

He has acted as color consultant for a federal housing project, designed the library and the museum at Dumbarton Oaks, and decorated homes in both North and South America. He says:

"People don't buy a house or furniture often enough to know how to go about it. They get so much advice they're dizzy."

'Suicide Squeeze' Makes 3 N. T. Bid

The Midwest regional championships tournament, which was held recently at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati, O., was one of the largest and nicest tournaments I have ever attended.

Back in 1933 the national championships were held in Cincinnati. For a number of years afterwards it did not rank among the top tournament cities, but today it is an outstanding center.

Charles A. Hall, one of Cincinnati's fine players, was one of the workers who made the Midwest tournament a success. He gave me today's hand. It involves one of the most difficult strategies in bridge, the "suicide squeeze."

East overtook his partner's opening lead with the King of hearts and Hall (South) let it hold. East returned the four of hearts and Hall won with the ace. He could count only eight tricks.

If the clubs or diamonds broke three-three, he was all right, but Hall decided that the easiest way to make the contract was to give the opponents a chance to make a mistake.

He led the seven of hearts, West won and East discarded the deuce of spades. West immediately cashed the other good hearts and East discarded the eight of spades, then the ten of clubs.

Next West shifted to a spade, Hall won with the ace. On the last two hearts he had discarded the four and deuce of clubs from dummy, and his four of spades and five of clubs.

After winning the spade ace, Hall cashed the ace and king of clubs, and East was hopelessly squeezed. He could follow with the jack of clubs, but then if he let go a diamond, it would set up the needed ninth trick in the diamond suit. If he let go a spade, Hall's third spade trick would be good.

In commenting on the hand, Hall said that West should have been warned by the Greeks bearing gifts. He should have guessed the evil intent behind the gift of the heart trick. Had he held only one of the hearts and then shifted to a spade, Hall could not have made the contract.

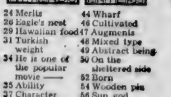
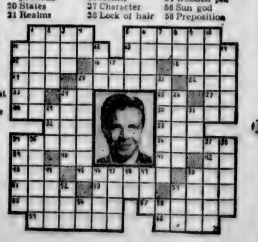
Answer to Previous Puzzle





IN THE HEART of downtown Edmonton is the new, complete and fully-equipped tourist information and accommodation bureau which officially opened for business this week. The new centre is situated on the ground floor of the Provincial building, 100A street and 101A avenue.

Edmonton's Travel Office Ready for Tourist Crowd

Edmonton's new, complete, and fully equipped tourist information and accommodation bureau is open for business.

Situated on the ground floor of the Provincial building, the new centre will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

The new project, first of its kind ever attempted here, is jointly sponsored by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the City of Edmonton.

Object of the undertaking is to encourage tourists to visit Edmonton and Alberta generally, and to adequately care for the visiting guests while they are here.

Need for such a centre was recognized by the steady influx of letters of inquiry from eastern Canadians and Americans seeking information on travel conditions and accommodation facilities in Alberta and along the Alaskan highway.

Chairman of the new set-up is J. A. "Jack" Weber, replacing George W. McLean, who has been chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist bureau for the past year.

The undertaking has been a co-operative affair, with a number of Edmonton business men rendering valuable assistance, as well as what was received by civic and government officials and service clubs.

Among those who played major roles in making the new centre possible, are: George W. McLean, Walter M. Kerr, Edward Bryant, Lyall Roper, M. B. Strong, J. M. Jackman, J. P. Lazarowich, Alfred Blyth, H. M. Mills, A. D. Potter, D. B. Menzies, Dan E. C. Campbell, J. M. Brooke, E. B. Olson, R. R. Moore and Don McKay.

New Bureau Boon to City

Edmonton's new tourist and information bureau will be easily accessible to all travellers.

Located in the heart of the city—it is situated on the ground floor of the Provincial building, 100A street and 101A avenue—the new centre fulfills a much-desired and long-awaited need.

At the modernly equipped office will be two tourist travel authorities, Dave Airth and Lydia Sidjak, who will be on hand daily to render information and accommodation to Edmonton visitors.

The office will be adequately equipped with a number of lounge chairs where tourists may rest while awaiting service.

Want Tourist Influx Recorded by Book

Tourists visiting Edmonton's new Information and Accommodation Bureau in the Provincial building will be invited to sign a special guest book.

The attractive register was initially signed by civic, government, Chamber of Commerce, and service club officials attending the opening ceremonies this week.

It is hoped the guest book will enable the tourist bureau to record all Edmonton visitors during the 1948 tourist season.

"We've never been able to ascertain how many tourists visited the city during the holiday season," said Don McKay, acting executive secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, "and while we don't expect the register will give us an official record of all Edmonton it will enable us to have some idea of the number of tourists we entertain," he concluded.

Accommodation for tourists visiting Edmonton will be one of the main chores undertaken by the new Edmonton tourist and information bureau.

DAN E. C. CAMPBELL, director of travel bureau for the provincial government who predicts a record influx of tourists to Alberta this year.

"Lodging is the chief tourist problem and every effort will be made to provide visitors with suitable and adequate accommodation," said Don McKay, acting executive secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, who in conjunction with the City of Edmonton, are administrators of the new centre.

"In order to cope with the situation, citizens of Edmonton are being urged to register any vacant accommodation at the bureau," he added.

The Chamber official said that hotel accommodation is still a severe problem in the city but the hotels would be asked to co-operate by reporting vacancies if and when they occur.

He further stated that a special appeal was being made to citizens to register any spare space in their homes which might be let for occupancy.

"We earnestly hope that anyone who has available accommodation will phone the bureau and have it registered as it will aid considerably in assisting us locate places for appeal," he said.

DON McKAY, acting executive secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, who in co-operation with civic, provincial and service club officials instigated and arranged for Edmonton's new complete and fully equipped tourist information and accommodation bureau.

Top Vacationland Is Jasper Park

Everything for Holiday Found at Tekarra Lodge

Tekarra Lodge — beautifully situated amid the pines and lakes of Jasper Park, Canada's favorite vacationland — is one of the most popular and modern tourist centres in the west.

The attractive rendezvous, located at a junction of the Miette and Athabasca rivers, one half mile from the town of Jasper, boasts 22 modern cabins, accommodating from two to six persons.

Well furnished, the cabins are fully equipped for housekeeping. Hot and cold water, electric ranges and modern bathroom facilities are features of the cedar-lined, rustic, log-exterior cabins.

Adding a spice and tang to the vacationist's memory of the mountain "retreat" are the open stone fireplaces, fitted in each lodge, where after a full day of fishing, bridle-path riding, boating, golfing, swimming, or just "loafing" in the sun on velvet green, encompassed by a blaze of glorious color, the tired holiday-er may stretch and lazily dream as the tangy fragrance from the crackling pine knots invades the senses and induces complete relaxation.

Wonderful days are to be spent in this new area of Canada's foremost vacation Elysium!

For the young, and young of heart, there is not a spot in the world so conducive to romance.

World travellers agree that the only place on earth that even remotely approaches the beauty and grandeur of Jasper Park are the Tyrolean Alps in Switzerland.

Some have even gone on record as saying that "Jasper is more like the Alps than the Alps themselves."

Jasper Park is the largest of seven areas set aside for national playgrounds in the mountains of western Canada.

Embracing an area of 4,200 square miles, in the heart of the Rockies, the park includes acres of unsurpassed alpine beauty, cloud-kissed, snow-tipped peaks, deep canyons, rushing rivers and exquisite lakes.

It is also one of the great wild-life sanctuaries of the continent.

A holiday spent at popular Tekarra offers everything the holiday-er desires to encounter on his or her vacation—scenic grandeur, out-of-door activities, comfortable accommodation and complete relaxation.

New Bureau Hopes To Serve Thousands

Attractive tourist maps and information pamphlets will be widely distributed throughout United States and Canada by Edmonton's new tourist information and accommodation bureau.

In addition to the cross-country coverage, the hand-outs will be distributed to all Alberta hotels, automotive houses and service stations as well as at the new bureau.

It is hoped to create greater tourist interest in Edmonton and Alberta generally by means of these pamphlets.

One of the booklets entitled "Facts and Information" is an eight page edition.

It will contain various points of interest about Edmonton and district; places of amusement and sports; emergency directory; city churches; swimming pools; theatres; parks; hotels; cafes, service stations and all such items of interest to visitors.

A compact but complete map of the city will be included in the pamphlet.

On this map will be a perimeter-drive trail of the city, which, when followed, will enable the visitor to cover the major points of interest in Edmonton.

To further aid the visitor, signs directing the route of this perimeter drive will be prominently displayed along the trail.

This series of signs will be so erected that anyone will be able to spot them from some distance.

The trail blazers are expected to be put up around the city shortly.

It is contemplated that some 20,000 of these booklets will be distributed this summer.

The other pamphlet will deal chiefly with the Alberta picture.

A five color road map, covering the whole of the province, will be the feature of this edition.

Picturesque scenery along the circle route, Edmonton to Jasper to Banff and Calgary, will be another highlight.

Information and facts about the province will be included, and a general survey of points of interest of Edmonton and district, the oil wells at Leduc, the Alaska highway, and north travel will be given.

Church Withholds Approval Of Govt.

MOOSE JAW, June 7.— (CP) — Because of an approaching general election in the province, the Saskatchewan conference of the United Church of Canada Saturday took no action on a report commending the provincial government's hospital services plan.

To avoid the appearance of taking sides in provincial politics, no action was taken on the report of the evangelism and social service committee which asked the conference to go on record as "strongly approving" the plan.

OIL

11,097 Daily From Atlantic

Uncontrolled production from one Leduc oil well almost matched the quantity of oil produced by the entire field at Turner Valley during the week ended May 31. Output from Atlantic Leduc No. 3 averaged 11,097 barrels daily. Turner Valley averaged 11,465 barrels per day for the week. Total daily yield for the province was 25,533 barrels compared with 23,896 barrels per day for the previous week.

The record of the lone Leduc well compared to once potent Turner Valley makes it apparent that the Valley would be crowded into insignificance if regulations permitted flush production at all Leduc wells. Numerous individuals are apparently unaware that normal production at the Leduc and Woodbend fields does not represent the full potentialities of the field, but is the rate at which production is allowed to be taken to ensure the largest possible recovery.

HEAVY GAS LOSS

Turner Valley's waning production does not mean that all the oil in the field has been recovered. Estimates of total recovery from the Valley indicate that no more than 25 per cent of the oil will be produced. The remaining 75 per cent will be left in the ground unless new means of forcing it out are found.

In the Valley huge gas pressure produces the force that brings the oil to the surface. For each barrel of oil produced huge quantities of gas are lost to the field. Eventually the wells turn into dry gas producers.

NO ESTIMATES YET

No reliable estimates have yet been published on the probable percentage of ultimate recovery at Leduc. Such figures will be based on the size of the field when its borders are definitely established and the number of feet of oil bearing porosity in each zone. A number of the wells presently on production from D2 will be on pump in the next two years according to oil men. It is pointed out that in some fields oil has been pumped from the same well for as long as 25 years.

Some D3 zone wells are bound to be short lived because they found the zone low and as a result have very little porosity from which to produce oil. Some of them will have to be abandoned. Others, such as Globe-Leduc West No. 5, will probably plug back and take production from the higher D2 zone.

CALMONT BELOW 500

The most recent addition to the list of independent drilling at Leduc is making good progress. The company, Calmont-Leduc No. 1 reports that its first well is drilling below 500 feet with surface pipe set. East Leduc No. 4, northwest extension wildcat is coring Devonian contact near the 4,200 foot level.

Most recent addition to Leduc's list of producers is Home Leduc No. 4, first D2 zone completion for the big independent company. The well was swabbed in on Friday. No production test figures have yet been released. Faster drilling time in the Leduc field was made by Drilling Contractors Limited on Imperial Leduc No. 67. The production casing was set 21 days after the hole was started. The well is a D2 zone completion off-setting Home No. 4 to the west.

Force To Ensure Control Of Ruhr

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(AP)—The proposed international control of the German Ruhr by the western allies would be backed up by strong enforcement powers, the official six-power agreement revealed today.

Wheat Prices Close Lower

CHICAGO, June 7.—(AP)—Rapid expansion of winter wheat harvesting in the southwest caused an easier undertone in the bread cereal today. Much of the selling came from the southwest and was of a hedging nature. Prices held not far above the government loan level.

In contrast to wheat, feed grains were firm most of the day. The buying of corn and oats came in the face of week-end showers in the midwest and fairly heavy cash corn offerings by the country. Bookings exceeded 100,000 bushels. Most buying came from previous short sellers.

Wheat closed ¾-1¼ lower, corn was ½-1½ higher, oats were ⅝ lower to 1 cent higher, and soybeans were 1⅛ higher.

Cash wheat: none; corn: No. 1 yellow 2.30¼-2.31; oats: No. 1 heavy mixed 1.19¾-21¼.

Close:

Wheat: July 2.29-29¼; Sep. 2.28½, Dec. 2.28⅛; May 2.26⅛.

Corn: July 2.16⅛-¼; Sep. 1.94⅜ ½; Dec. 1.69¼-½; May 1.69½.

Oats: July 93⅛-¼; Sep. 85⅛-¼; Dec. 85½-c; May 84¼.

London Stocks

LONDON, June 7.—(CP)—Proposed cuts in the Marshall Plan proposed by the United States Congress brought gloom to London Stock Exchange today with a long list of declines posted in the industrial group. Selling was small but widespread.

Tobaccos led the downward movement and stores and textiles followed suit.

Marked weakness was displayed by leaders in oils which declined 1/16 to ⅛. South African mining issues also were on the downgrade.

British government issues were not affected, previous closing prices being maintained in a quiet market.

Closing quotes:

Babcock & Wilcox 70s; Boots Pure Drug 49s 9d; Canadian Pacific $26; Central Mining £19½; Consolidated Gold Fields 62s 6d; Courtaulds 39s 1½d; Hudson's Bay Co. 86s 3d; Imperial Chemical 46s 10½d; Metal Box 96s 10½d; Mexican Eagle 15s 6d; Mount Isa Mines 34s 6d. Rand Mines 125s.

Man With Canoe Missing On Lake

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—Aircraft and ships in Lake Ontario last night were asked to look for Percy Sigal, 29, of Toronto, believed adrift in a canoe. He was last seen Saturday night. It was believed a stiff off-shore breeze might have taken him out into the lake.

THE AVERAGE CAR in 1948 travels, in one year, over twice as far as did the automobiles in 1925. And the average car scrapped this year will have lasted over twice as long as the car scrapped 23 years ago. The chart, based on figures from the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, shows how the usage and life of cars has increased over the years.

S. W. Schortinghuis, Manitoba's chief of forest protection, said two small lightning fires discovered Saturday afternoon north of the Winnipeg river in the Lac du Bonnet district, had been brought under control.

Crews were rushed to the scene from Lac du Bonnet after the fires were spotted by air patrols.

Oil Drilling in North Dates Back to 1893

Recent reports of oil exploration work being started in the area north of Edmonton recall that several previous efforts have been made to find petroleum in commercial quantities along the Athabasca river. The earliest of these expeditions was financed by the Federal government before the province was formed.

A publication issued in 1914 under direction of Railway Lands Branch of Department of the Interior casts some interesting sidelights on early oil explorations in the area northeast of Edmonton. Interest at the time centred on finding crude petroleum occurring in conjunction with the tar sands.

REPORTED IN 1888

A report written by R. G. McConnell of the Geological Survey in 1888 referred to indications of oil in many places other than the tar sands as tar was reported to have been found in the vicinity of Lesser Slave Lake and, on the upper Peace River.

Doctor G. M. Dawson, director of the Geological Survey, expressed it as his opinion that the bitumen originated in the Devonian and points to the "existence of a great petroleum field of which some parts may have exhausted themselves in saturating the lowest Cretaceous sands, but of which probably the greater part is still effectually sealed by the thick covering of overlying rocks."

NEAR ATHABASCA

In 1893 the Dominion Government voted $7,000 to start experimental "borings" in the Athabasca region. The first hole was sunk at Athabasca. The report states that the roar of gas struck at 334 feet could be heard half a mile away. The hole was "unavoidably abandoned at 1,770 feet without reaching the probably oil bearing sands."

The second and third holes were drilled at the mouth of the Pelican river on the Athabasca and at Victoria on the Saskatchewan below Edmonton. Both these holes were begun in the summer of 1897.

At the Pelican river well gas is first reported to have been struck at 820 feet. The roar was heard over three miles away. The report goes on to say "small nodules of iron-pyrites, about the size of a walnut, were blown out of the hole with incredible velocity. They came out like bullets from a rifle. We could not see them going, but could hear them crack against the top of the derrick."

"TOO DANGEROUS"

Oil was found to be mixed with these nodules, but drilling was suspended when the men refused to work owing to the danger. The well was left to stand for a year to let the gas blow off but when work was resumed in 1898 gas forced a complete abandonment at a depth of 830 feet. No record of the Victoria well was given after drilling was suspended at 705 feet for the winter of 1897.

Another individual interested in northern petroleum possibilities was Alfred Von Hammerstein who, when called before a senate committee in 1907 begged to be excused from divulging results of his works as other people had entrusted their money with him for the enterprise.

A familiar ring entered his voice when he said he "felt at liberty to state that their works so far made him very confident that they were going to have one of the biggest petroleum fields in the world." He added "I put all my money into it. There is other people's money in it. I have to be loyal. Last year I placed $50,000 worth of machinery in there. I have not bought it for ornamental purposes although it does look nice and home-like."

Production About Balances Demand

Canadian Economy Favorable According to Bank Statement

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—Worries about an imminent recession again appear to have receded, the current monthly report of the Bank of Nova Scotia states.

The review notes, however, a nearer balance within Canada between goods produced and the demand for them. This makes the business structure more dependent on high capital investment and exports, and thus more vulnerable to any unfavorable turn in events.

"But on the whole the picture remains favorable—it is (in Canada) one of an economy operating at capacity with a cost structure that compares well with other countries. It is, moreover, a picture of a nation adding substantially to its capacity to produce — its real wealth."

In this comment the review seems to sum up what many feel to be both the promise and the problem of the Canadian situation. The country has the raw materials, it is enormously increasing its facilities to make finished goods, and so has a lot at stake in present efforts to restore world-wide trade on a sound basis. The world demand is there if it can be made effective.

5 MILLION EMPLOYED

At present, the review comments, the Canadian economy is operating close to capacity and unless there is basic change there is reason to believe that the number of persons employed will exceed 5,000,000 for the second successive summer.

"At the same time there is considerable evidence to suggest a 'settling' in the employment situation. There now are a good many industries where production has caught up with demand and some which have encountered considerable buying resistance at current prices. In these circumstances labor turnover has decreased notably. Though shortages of many types of skilled workers have persisted, some instances of labor surplus developed during the winter."

SPENDING INCREASES

The amount of money being spent continues to increase, but people are getting less goods because of higher prices. Since the increase in prices has been most marked in food and clothing, these have tended to absorb a larger proportion of income.

"The rise in living costs, the greater abundance and variety of goods in the stores, and the fact that wartime savings have in many cases been uesd up, have all combined to induce a more restrained and selective attitude on the part of the consumer. This has in turn led to increasing competition on the part of distributors and manufacturers, and here and there to price reductions . . . some retailers are having considerable difficulty and this unfortunately is true of a number of new retail businesses that have been established in the last few years at high levels of costs."

Exclusive Dealer Contracts Invalid

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—(AP)—Exclusive dealer contracts between Standard Oil Co. of California and independently-owned service stations were ruled invalid today in U.S. federal court.

The far-reaching decision affects some 7,000 independently-operated stations which have contracts with Standard to sell only products made or sponsored by the oil company. The suit was instituted by the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

A total of 23,000 other stations in the western states with similar contracts with other companies, are indirectly affected, the anti-trust division said.

Construction Hits All-Time High

TORONTO, June 7.—(CP)—Construction contracts in Canada in May reached an all-time high og $139,915,500, $75,000,000 above May, 1947, Maclean Building Reports, Ltd., reports. Awards increased $95,600,000 to $349,200,000 for the first five months of the year.

By regions Ontario was higher in May with $53,723,100; followed by Quebec $50,217,000; western Canada $30,930,900 and the Maritime provinces $5,044,500. The Maritimes had a slight decline from May, 1947.

By groups, residential building was highest with $51,769,800, up $29,749,300 from last May; engineering, $45,921,600, up $35,412,500; commercial, $33,916,500, up $10,157,600; factory construction, $8,307,600, up $390,200.

Wage Incresae Is Recommended

CALGARY, June 7.—(CP)—A basic 15-cents-an hour wage increase for about 100 employes of Canada Creosoting Ltd., has been recommended by an arbitration board considering a wage dispute between the company and the Creosote Workers' Union.

The board, which recommended an increase of 16 and 17 cents for some employes, also recommended six statutory holidays with pay a year. If accepted, wages at the plant will range from 78 cents to $1.22 an hour.

Company and union representatives declined to comment on the award, which is similar to an earlier company proposal rejected by the union. The union is seeking a 25-cents-an-hour boost.

Grenade Explodes, Three Newspaper Men Are Wounded

JERUSALEM, June 7.—(AP)—Three newspaper men were wounded Saturday when a hand grenade was accidentally exploded as they walked across a square.

Sidney Smith of the London Daily Express and James Days of Britain's Kemsley newspapers were wounded in the legs. Carter L. Davidson of the Associated Press was slightly hurt on the left arm.

The trio was walking over an area which has been the scene of bitter fighting for the Holy City when one of them accidentally kicked the grenade.

Volume contracted to around 900,000 shares, slowest in a couple of months.

Among the losers were General Motors, U.S. Rubber, Oliver Corp., Kennecott Copper, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, J. C. Penney, U.S. Gypsum, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (N.J.), and United Aircraft.

Canadian issues were lower. Canadian Pacific, Dome Mines and Distillers Seagrams each eased ⅛. McIntyre and Hiram Walker were unquoted.

Forest Crews Try To Encircle Fires

Blaze-Fighters Hope for Rain In Northern Ontario, Quebec

By The Canadian Press

Cool and generally calm weather during the week-end helped crews seeking to encircle huge forest fires in the northland of Ontario and western Quebec.

With little change in temperature forecast for today, the men in charge of battling the blazes held hope that for another day the fires would not run. Meanwhile fire crews tried to hold their lines around the fire areas and hoping for rain.

Only scattered showers were forecast for today but across the north country men scanned the sky for the big thunderheads that could presage a downpour heavy enough to soak the fiery timberlands.

COULD DOUSE PATCHES

Then the crews could move into the devastated areas and stamp out scattered patches of flame with pumps, shovels and other equipment.

Final stages of the firefighting operation will include "cruising" the burned-over area in an attempt to identify the types of timber destroyed and to estimate the loss.

The biggest fires still were those in the Mississagi and Chapleau areas of northern Ontario. Altogether those two blazes were said to cover more than 200 square miles, including burned-over and burning areas.

SPREAD IN QUEBEC

The Mississagi fire, north of Blind River, raged through both cutover areas and in standing timber, mostly pine, the Chapleau blaze swept stands of mixed timber.

Spreading more rapidly than the 10-day-old northern Ontario fires were outbreaks in northwestern Quebec. These were reported near Belleterre, 50 miles south of Rouyn; 17 miles south of Clova 190 miles east of Rouyn; and in the Val D'or area, 65 miles east of Rouyn.

Fresh fires were reported in the Dog lake and Temper lake districts northwest of Port Arthur. The great fires in the Lake Helen district north of Port Arthur continued to burn in spots.

London Denies Russ Charge

LONDON, June 7.—(Reuters)—Official London sources today denied all knowledge of the alleged kidnapping of a Russian colonel, J. D. Tessajew.

Tass, the Soviet News Agency, said the Russian had been kidnapped in Bremen, flown to England, held in a London flat and subsequently returned to Germany.

STORY SAID UNTRUE

The Foreign Office said today that the Tass story was untrue. Tessajew, it added, had come to Britain voluntarily as a political refugee.

Scotland Yard refused comment on the Tass allegation that the colonel had been held at a London police station after an abortive escape attempt.

It was learned yesterday that a tenant named Mrs. Wiggin—the name given by Tass as the landlady of a flat where the colonel was alleged to have been kept prisoner—had in fact stayed at the address given.

She moved recently.

The porter at the flats said she had moved out "suddenly" two weeks ago.

At the Olympia Hall several doormen said they remembered "hearing about that Russian fellow."

COMMOTION IN HALL

One who would not give his name, said: "I remember one day at the beginning of last month hearing of a commotion in the main hall. I was told that a man had rushed in shouting in English and some foreign language, that he wanted to see the Russian ambassador. The police took him away."

Others gave similar versions of this story. None would vouch for its authenticity.

NEW YORK, June 7.—(AP)—A raging Queen's lumberyard fire swept to within 200 feet of 1,500 000 gallons of oil in storage tanks yesterday before it was brought under control.

Twenty-two firemen were treated for injuries in battling the blaze which fire department officials said caused about $400,000 damage. Two lumber yards and several adjoining properties were destroyed.
